poultry products, announced today that on April, 13th part of the lending processing plant that Bachoco operates in Monterrey, N.L., located in Northern Mexico, caught fire.

Cristobal Mondragon, Bachoco's Chief Executive Officer stated, "First of all, I want to inform that no one was injured during the fire, and practically no products were affected.

"The fire consumed the secondary process of the processing plant, while the primary process, which is physically separated, suffered no damage and is operating nearly under normal conditions.

"Several actions have taken place to guarantee the supply coming from this plant, mainly by adjusting the product mix at other of our complexes and redirecting the product of the primary process to other markets.

"Finally, we are in the process of evaluating the damage to the equipment to learn how much time it will take to replace lost capacity. As expected, all damaged assets were properly covered by insurance," concluded Mr. Mondragon.
