1. A press release from Pearson plc announcing Groupe Les Echos

5 November 2007

Edgar Filing: PEARSON PLC - Form 6-K

Statement regarding Groupe Les Echos

Pearson today announces that it has signed an agreement to sell Groupe Les Echos SA to LVMH for EUR240m in cash.

This follows today's ruling by the Tribunal de Grande Instance in Paris. It concluded that Pearson's consultation process with the Works Council of Les Echos has been satisfactorily completed.

The agreement between Pearson and LVMH includes a series of measures to protect editorial independence and jobs at Les Echos, which were first published on 23 July 2007.

Pearson and LVMH expect to complete the transaction towards the end of the year. In 2006, Groupe Les Echos contributed EUR126m of sales and EUR10m of operating profit to Pearson.

Groupe Les Echos includes Les Echos, France's leading business newspaper; lesechos.fr, France's leading business media website; Enjeux, a leading business magazine; and other specialist financial information services.

Notes to editors:

The agreement between Pearson and LVMH incorporates a series of measures to protect editorial independence and jobs. These include:

Editorial quality and independence

The editorial independence arrangements, which will be incorporated into the statutes of Les Echos, include the following:

1. An 11 member supervisory board will be established, which will include three independent members and the editor-in-chief of Les Echos.
2. The three independent members will be appointed by the Company's shareholders from candidates agreed unanimously by a committee comprised of representatives of LVMH and the Society of Journalists of Les Echos.
3. Neither Mr. Eric Izraelewicz, nor any future editor-in-chief of Les Echos, may be dismissed by the Supervisory Board without the approval of at least two independent members.
4. Any future editor-in-chief will be nominated by LVMH subject to the approval of the supervisory board, including at least two independent members, unless the appointment is vetoed by a majority of journalists at Les Echos.
5. The same will apply to the editor-in-chief of "Enjeux".
6. An ethical charter - a high level framework for the protection of editorial quality and independence - will be agreed by LVMH, Pearson and the Society of Journalists.
7. An Editorial Independence Committee will be established, consisting of two members of the supervisory board representing LVMH; two of the independent members and two members appointed by the Society of Journalists. Its role will be to ensure that the values of the ethical charter are upheld. The Committee will consider complaints from any editor or journalist regarding any alleged breach of the editorial independence by the shareholders. If the Editorial Independence Committee upholds a complaint, the Committee will require the Editor-in-Chief to publish the complaint prominently in the newspaper and the affected journalists may exercise their 'Clause de Conscience', which allows them to resign and receive a dismissal payment.

8. These editorial independence arrangements can only be changed with the approval of two of the three independent members.

Employment

1. There will be no redundancies of Les Echos people for at least four years.
2. The terms of the existing collective agreements will be maintained for at least five years.
3. All employees entitled to exercise their 'Clause de Cession' right, which allows them to resign and receive a dismissal payment as a result of the sale, will have the right to do so for two years from the closing.
