Dear XXX:

As we enter the holiday season, I want to offer my sincere thanks for your support of our company during what has been a most challenging period.

All of us at Allergan are very proud of our long history of delivering stockholder value by providing the highest levels of support to our customers and the broader medical community. We have always recognized that you have a choice in the companies you work with and the products that you use. Over the years, we have worked hard to exceed your expectations and invest in those areas that you have told us are most important, such as R&D, innovation, training, developing new markets, and patient education.

During the past eight months, as we have continued to focus on those priorities, we have been touched by your willingness to publicly share your support for Allergan. It has meant a great deal to me, the members of the Allergan leadership team, and all of our employees.

As you know, on November 17th, we announced that Allergan has entered into a definitive agreement whereby Actavis will acquire Allergan for a total value of approximately $66 billion. We are very excited about the combination of our two companies as Actavis shares Allergan's commitment to customer service and product innovation, which will remain some of our top priorities. The combined company will continue to support a fully integrated pharmaceutical and medical device R&D organization and we will continue to invest in our R&D pipeline with a focus on delivering high quality products to address unmet patient needs.

We expect that the acquisition will close in 2Q 2015. Until then, it will be business as usual, with no impact to our operations or the high quality of service that you have come to expect from Allergan team members.

If you have any questions about the acquisition, please feel free to contact me, at allergancommunications@allergan.com, or your Allergan representative.

Once again, my sincere thanks for your support of our company, our employees, and our priorities. We greatly appreciate your offers of assistance and words of encouragement. On behalf of all our employees, I send my best wishes to you and your family during the holidays and in 2015.

David
