The Markets in Review

Dear Shareholder.

Central bank policy decisions have continued to provide support to financial markets, while changing economic outlooks and geopolitical risks have been major drivers of investor sentiment. After ending its near-zero interest rate policy at the end of 2015, the Federal Reserve (the Fed ) remained in focus as investors considered the anticipated pace of future rate hikes. With the European Central Bank and the Bank of Japan having moved into stimulus mode, the divergence in global monetary policies drove heightened market volatility at the beginning of 2016 and caused the U.S. dollar to strengthen considerably.

Financial markets had a rough start to the year as the strong dollar challenged U.S. companies that generate revenues overseas and pressured emerging market currencies and commodities prices. Low and volatile oil prices and signs of slowing growth in China were also meaningful factors behind the decline in risk assets early in the year. However, as the first quarter wore on, these pressures abated and a more tempered outlook for U.S. rate hikes helped the markets rebound.

Volatility spiked in late June when the United Kingdom shocked investors with its vote to leave the European Union. Uncertainty around how the British exit might affect the global economy and political landscape drove investors to high-quality assets, pushing already low global yields to even lower levels. However, risk assets recovered swiftly in July as economic data suggested that the consequences had thus far been contained to the United Kingdom.

In a second episode of surprise vote results, equities fell sharply after the news of Donald Trump s victory in the U.S. presidential election, but quickly recovered, and the yield curve steepened due to expectations for rising inflation. Broadly, a reflation theme has been building amid signs of rising price pressures, central banks signaling a greater tolerance to let inflation run hotter, and policy emphasis shifting from monetary to fiscal stimulus.

At BlackRock, we believe investors need to think globally, extend their scope across a broad array of asset classes and be prepared to adjust accordingly as market conditions change over time. We encourage you to talk with your financial advisor and visit blackrock.com for further insight about investing in today s markets.

Performance and Portfolio Management Commentary

Returns for the 12 months ended October 31, 2016 were as follows:

Returns	Based	Or
ixctui iis	Dascu	OI.

	Market Price	NAV
$BTZ^{1,2}$	10.43%	9.61%

- <sup>1</sup> All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions.
- The Trust s discount to NAV, which narrowed during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV.

3 Average return.

Performance results may include adjustments made for financial reporting purposes in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. The following discussion relates to the Trust s absolute performance based on NAV:

What factors influenced performance?

The Trust s allocations to high yield bonds and capital securities aided performance, as did its positions in the financials, midstream energy and wireline industries. (Capital securities are dividend-paying securities that combine some features of both corporate bonds and preferred stocks, while generally providing higher yields to compensate for being less senior in the issuer s capital structure.) The largest detractors from absolute performance included the Trust s duration positioning and its allocation to the metals and mining industry.

The Trust held derivatives in the form of futures, swaps, swaptions and options in order to manage duration and convexity risk. (Duration is a measure of interest rate sensitivity; convexity measures how duration changes as interest rates change.) Derivatives were also used to aid in implementing the Trust s yield curve positioning. The Trust used credit default swaps, including those linked to broad indices or individual securities, to manage credit risk. In addition, the Trust employed leverage to enhance yield.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

The Trust became increasingly defensive over the year, as the investment adviser looked to focus less on market risk and more on idiosyncratic opportunities and bottom-up security selection. After maintaining an overweight position in financials relative to industrials for several years, the investment adviser reduced the Trust s weighting in financials. In addition, it significantly decreased exposure to the insurance, financial companies, and banking industries. The investment adviser also lowered the Trust s overall allocation to industrials, mainly by taking down its allocations to the basic industries, energy, communications, and consumer areas. The Trust increased its weighting in technology, as many large issuers in the sector issued new debt at attractive levels.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

From a sector perspective, the Trust maintained its exposure to financials, with a preference for U.S. banks and brokers. Although financials lagged the rally in industrials, the investment adviser believed the capital and liquidity of U.S. banks remained strong.

The Trust s largest position was in the cable & satellite sector, where the investment adviser saw strong fundamental trends and compelling valuations. The Trust also held an allocation to pharmaceuticals based on their attractive valuations, rising earnings and improving balance sheets. Additionally, the Trust had a large exposure to the pipeline industry on the belief that companies in this area had adequate cash to support both their balance sheets and credit ratings. However, the investment adviser recognized that industry fundamentals were somewhat challenging, and that pipeline issues remained sensitive volatility in oil prices. The Trust maintained an allocation to high yield bonds at the close of the period.

Performance and Portfolio Management Commentary

Returns for the 12 months ended October 31, 2016 were as follows:

Returns Based On

	Market Price	NAV
BGT <sup>1,2</sup>	12.25%	7.27%
Lipper Loan Participation Funds <sup>3</sup>	15.20%	8.16%

- <sup>1</sup> All returns reflect reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions.
- The Trust s discount to NAV, which narrowed during the period, accounts for the difference between performance based on price and performance based on NAV.

3 Average return.

Performance results may include adjustments made for financial reporting purposes in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. The following discussion relates to the Trust s absolute performance based on NAV:

What factors influenced performance?

Over the 12-month period, the broad floating rate bank loan market (i.e., bank loans) provided a positive return, but gains were well below other credit markets, namely the high yield area. The Trust s general outlook on bank loans and credit markets improved as volatility subsided and performance turned positive on an absolute basis. However, the Trust s exposure to integrated energy companies within the broader energy sector detracted from performance, despite gains more broadly across commodity-related sectors over the period. Small positions in convertible securities also negatively affected results.

The Trust s exposure to loans in the technology, health care, and consumer services sectors contributed positively to performance. Performance for high yield bonds was positive and ahead of that for loans during the period, and the Trust s tactical allocation to this asset class contributed to results.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Throughout the 12-month period, the Trust maintained its focus on the higher quality segments of the loan market in terms of loan structure, liquidity and overall credit quality. The Trust continued to concentrate its investments in strong companies with stable cash flows and high quality collateral, with the ability to meet interest obligations and ultimately return principal. From a sector perspective, the Trust added to names in the technology and health care sectors, while trimming exposure to pharmaceuticals and lodging. The Trust selectively added to its high yield bond position.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

At period end, the Trust held 92% of its total portfolio in bank loans, with the remainder primarily in corporate bonds and CLOs. The Trust continued to favor loans rated B where the investment adviser is comfortable with credit quality, in view of the incremental income they offered versus BB loans. Additionally, the Trust held a modest position in BB-rated loans, while maintaining minimal exposure to loans rated CCC and below, especially avoiding the riskier segments among lower-rated loans within sectors such as energy, metals & mining, and media. Top issuer positions included Level 3 Financing, Inc. (Wirelines), Altice US Financing I Corp./Numericable Group SA (Cable & Satellite), and First Data Corp. (Technology). The strategy maintained a modest stake in more conservative high yield bonds.

Performance results may include adjustments made for financial reporting purposes in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. The following discussion relates to the Trust s absolute performance based on NAV:

What factors influenced performance?

The Trust s positions in high yield corporate bonds, mortgage-backed securities (MBS), asset-backed securities (ABS) and investment grade bonds were the most significant contributors to performance. The Trust s stance with respect to duration (sensitivity to interest rate movements) and yield curve positioning also added to returns.

The Trust s allocations in foreign commercial mortgage-backed securities ( CMBS ) and senior loans detracted from performance. Describe recent portfolio activity.

During the period, the Trust s spread duration (sensitivity to credit spreads) was increased as its spread sector exposure was rotated away from MBS, capital securities and ABS, and toward investment grade credit. These changes were made as divergent central bank monetary policies, improving oil prices and investors desire for yield created a strong technical backdrop that supported credit-based assets. In addition, the Trust s allocation in longer-dated credit was increased in anticipation of demand from foreign investors shifting toward the back end of the credit curve as a result of the higher cost of hedging U.S. dollar exposure. Additionally, the Trust s high yield allocation was tilted toward U.S. issuers due to concerns regarding the potential negative consequences of the U.K. s planned exit from the European Union. The Trust s duration was increased in the expectation of continued low interest rates over the near term, based on tepid U.S. economic data and dovish rhetoric from the Fed. Additionally, the Trust s allocation to floating rate securities was reduced.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

The Trust maintained a diversified exposure to non-government spread sectors, including non-agency MBS, high yield corporates, capital securities, ABS, collateralized loan obligations, CMBS and senior loans. The Trust also held marginal exposure to government-related sectors such as supranationals (multinational foreign government obligations) and foreign agencies.

ANNUAL REPORT OCTOBER 31, 2016

The Benefits and Risks of Leveraging

The Trusts may utilize leverage to seek to enhance the distribution rate on, and net asset value ( NAV ) of, their common shares ( Common Shares ). However, these objectives cannot be achieved in all interest rate environments.

In general, the concept of leveraging is based on the premise that the financing cost of leverage, which is based on short-term interest rates, is normally lower than the income earned by a Trust on its longer-term portfolio investments purchased with the proceeds from leverage. To the extent that the total assets of the Trusts (including the assets obtained from leverage) are invested in higher-yielding portfolio investments, the Trusts shareholders benefit from the incremental net income. The interest earned on securities purchased with the proceeds from leverage is paid to shareholders in the form of dividends, and the value of these portfolio holdings is reflected in the per share NAV.

To illustrate these concepts, assume a Trust s capitalization is $100 million and it utilizes leverage for an additional $30 million, creating a total value of $130 million available for investment in longer-term income securities. If prevailing short-term interest rates are 3% and longer-term interest rates are 6%, the yield curve has a strongly positive slope. In this case, a Trust s financing costs on the $30 million of proceeds obtained from leverage are based on the lower short-term interest rates. At the same time, the securities purchased by a Trust with the proceeds from leverage earn income based on longer-term interest rates. In this case, a Trust s financing cost of leverage is significantly lower than the income earned on a Trust s longer-term investments acquired from such leverage proceeds, and therefore the holders of Common Shares ( Common Shareholders ) are the beneficiaries of the incremental net income.

However, in order to benefit shareholders, the return on assets purchased with leverage proceeds must exceed the ongoing costs associated with the leverage. If interest and other costs of leverage exceed the Trusts—return on assets purchased with leverage proceeds, income to shareholders is lower than if the Trusts had not used leverage. Furthermore, the value of the Trusts—portfolio investments generally varies inversely with the direction of long-term interest rates, although other factors can influence the value of portfolio investments. In contrast, the value of the Trusts obligations under their respective leverage arrangements generally does not fluctuate in relation to interest rates. As a result, changes in interest rates can influence the Trusts NAVs positively or negatively. Changes in the future direction of interest rates are very difficult to predict accurately, and there is no assurance that the Trusts intended leveraging strategy will be successful.

The use of leverage also generally causes greater changes in each Trust s NAV, market price and dividend rates than comparable portfolios without leverage. In a declining market, leverage is likely to cause a greater decline in the NAV and market price of a Trust s shares than if the Trust were not leveraged. In addition, each Trust may be required to sell portfolio securities at inopportune times or at distressed values in order to comply with regulatory requirements applicable to the use of leverage or as required by the terms of leverage instruments, which may cause the Trusts to incur losses. The use of leverage may limit a Trust s ability to invest in certain types of securities or use certain types of hedging strategies. Each Trust incurs expenses in connection with the use of leverage, all of which are borne by shareholders and may reduce income to the shareholders. Moreover, to the extent the calculation of the Trusts investment advisory fees includes assets purchased with the proceeds of leverage, the investment advisory fees payable to the Trust investment advisor will be higher than if the Trusts did not use leverage.

Each Trust may utilize leverage through a credit facility or reverse repurchase agreements as described in the Notes to Financial Statements.

Under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 1940 Act.), the Trusts are permitted to issue debt up to $\frac{3}{3}\% of their total managed assets. BIT is permitted to use economic leverage (which includes leverage attributable to reverse repurchase agreements) of up to 50% of its total managed assets. A Trust may voluntarily elect to limit its leverage to less than the maximum amount permitted under the 1940 Act. In addition, a Trust may also be subject to certain asset coverage, leverage or portfolio composition requirements imposed by its credit facility, which may be more stringent than those imposed by the 1940 Act.

If a Trust segregates or designates on its books and records cash or liquid assets having values not less than the value of a Trust s obligations under the reverse repurchase agreement (including accrued interest) then such transaction is not considered a senior security and is not subject to the foregoing limitations and requirements under the 1940 Act.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Trusts may invest in various derivative financial instruments. These instruments are used to obtain exposure to a security, commodity, index, market and/or other asset without owning or taking physical custody of securities, commodities and/or other referenced assets or to manage market, equity, credit, interest rate, foreign currency exchange rate, commodity and/or other risks. Derivative financial instruments may give rise to a form of economic leverage and involve risks, including the imperfect correlation between the value of a derivative financial instrument and the underlying asset, possible default of the counterparty to the transaction or illiquidity of the instrument. The Trusts successful use of a derivative financial instrument depends on the investment adviser s ability to predict pertinent market movements accurately, which cannot be assured. The use of these instruments may result in losses greater than if they had not been used, may limit the amount of appreciation a Trust can realize on an investment and/or may result in lower distributions paid to shareholders. The Trusts investments in these instruments, if any, are discussed in detail in the Notes to Financial Statements.
