On May 23, 2007 Smart & Final Inc. posted the following questions and answers on its associate intranet:

Q1: What's up next in our acquisition by Apollo Management?

We have filed and mailed to our shareholders a Definitive Proxy Statement which outlines the terms of the proposed merger with affiliates of Apollo Management. The Proxy Statement calls for a meeting of stockholders on Tuesday, May 29th at our offices in Commerce. The purpose of the meeting is for shareholders to vote whether to accept the proposed acquisition at $22.00 per share of common stock. A majority vote of our outstanding shares, including the shares of Groupe Casino, are required to approve the merger. Most stockholders will vote through the submission of a written proxy card or through proxy voting online - it is not necessary to be present at the meeting.

Q2: If a majority of the stockholders vote in favor of the merger on May 29th, then what happens?

Following a majority vote, the company and Apollo will schedule a formal closing of the transaction, within a few days of the stockholder meeting. At this point Apollo will formally own the company. At the closing, they will pay the agreed price of $22.00 per share into an escrow account which will be used to redeem the shares of outstanding stock.

Q3: If I own shares of Smart & Final stock, what do I do with them?

Regardless of whether you hold physical paper shares of stock or you hold shares in a brokerage account, you will receive notice from an independent agent who will ask you to surrender the shares in exchange for the merger consideration of $22.00 per share. There will not be any fees assessed by the company as part of this process. You or your brokerage firm should receive payment within a few days after your shares are surrendered.

Q4: What if I object to the merger?

Under Delaware law, you have the right to seek appraisal of the fair value of your shares as may be determined by a Delaware court if the merger is consummated. However, you must follow specific procedures explained in the Definitive Proxy Statement in order to do so. In order to preserve your appraisal rights, Delaware law requires, among other things, that you do not vote in favor of the merger. Please see The Merger-Appraisal Rights beginning on page 41 of the Proxy Statement and Annex D to the Proxy Statement for more details.

Q5: In the past I was granted employee stock options which haven't vested or haven't been exercised. What happens to the options?

On the closing date, all of your options will become vested and exercisable. Since all outstanding stock options have exercise prices which are less than the $22.00 offered in the merger, all options will have some cash value at closing. The value of the options will be $22.00 minus the exercise price of the option, times that number of options held. Following closing, you will receive this cash value in a payroll check from the company, less deductions for employee income tax withholding.

Q6: I have some shares of Smart & Final stock which in the past were deferred under the Supplemental Deferred Compensation Plan (SDCP). What will happen to these shares?

Any shares of stock in the SDCP will be converted to cash at the $22.00 per share price, subject to your voting to sell the shares as part of the merger. The cash resulting from the merger will remain in the SDCP and will not be paid out to you in the merger. Since the SDCP will remain in place following the merger, payments under this plan will be made in accordance with its terms and any elections you have previously made.

Q7: I was granted some shares of restricted stock which have not yet vested. What will happen to these?

Any unvested restricted stock will vest at the closing date. These shares will then be purchased at the $22.00 per share price in the merger. If you elected at the time the shares were granted to defer the shares to the Supplemental Deferred Compensation Plan when they vest, then the shares will be deferred and the $22.00 per share cash will remain in the deferred compensation plan and will not be paid out to you in the merger. Since the SDCP will remain in place following the merger, payments under this plan will be made in accordance with its terms and any elections you have previously made.

Q8: Will the purchase of Smart & Final common stock affect my 401(k) account?

There is no Smart & Final stock in any of the 401(k) accounts.

Q9: Where will we send a stock certificate in to be redeemed?

Apollo will be selecting a paying agent. After the merger is consummated, you will receive written instructions from the paying agent on how to exchange your stock certificates for merger consideration.

Q10: Will we be contacted to confirm the options eligible for this to make sure what we have on record matches what you have?

You may contact Lily Harada (323-869-7637) or Russ Stratton (323-869-7648) in human resources for information on your holdings.

Q11: When will the stock purchase plan stop? If it doesn't happen for a while, can I get the forms for changing my stock purchase plan to zero? How do we stop automatic purchases of stock?

Payroll deductions for the employee stock purchase plan have stopped. The last deductions were taken out of the April 12, 2007 paychecks and memos were sent to participating associates.
