Invitrogen and Applied Biosystems
Announce Expiration of Hart-Scott-Rodino Waiting Period

Carlsbad and Foster City, Calif., July 29, 2008 – Invitrogen Corporation (NASDAQ: IVGN) and Applied Biosystems Inc. (NYSE: ABI) today announced the expiration of the waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, in connection with the companies' pending merger. The expiration of the waiting period satisfies one of the conditions to the closing of the transaction. Invitrogen will soon be engaging with the European Commission for a similar review process.

As previously announced on June 12, 2008, the Boards of Directors of Invitrogen and Applied Biosystems Inc. approved a definitive merger agreement under which Invitrogen will acquire all of the outstanding stock of Applied Biosystems Inc. for $38.00 per share in a cash and stock transaction valued at $6.7 billion. This consideration represents a premium of 17% to Applied Biosystems' stock price on June 11, 2008.

Invitrogen also announced it will file the preliminary S-4 with the Securities and Exchange Commission by the end of July or early August 2008. The transaction is subject to approval of both companies' shareholders as well as other customary closing conditions and is targeted to close in late October or early November of 2008.

Also as previously announced, the two companies have begun work on integration activities under the leadership of Mark Smedley, Invitrogen's Global Head of Operations. Integration team members from both companies across all regions met July 20-22, 2008, to discuss proposed milestones and activities for the integration and further review proposed synergies.

"Integration teams comprising all functional areas of both companies are now in place and operating at full speed," Smedley said. "We have a clear integration model in place and we are well on track to start delivering on the potential of our new company as soon as the transaction closes."
