Risk Factors

There are important differences between the securities and a conventional debt security. An investment in the securities involves significant risks, including those listed below. You should carefully review the more detailed explanation of risks relating to the securities in the “Risk Factors” sections beginning on page S-3 of the prospectus supplement. We also urge you to consult with your investment, legal, accounting, tax, and other advisors before you invest in the securities.

- The credit risk of The Royal Bank of Scotland Group plc, its credit ratings and its credit spreads may adversely affect the value of the securities prior to maturity, and all payments on the securities will be subject to the ability of The Royal Bank of Scotland Group plc to pay its obligations as they become due.
- It is possible that you may receive below-market interest for one or more interest periods.
- The securities will be subject to our early redemption.
- An active trading market is not expected to develop for the securities.
- The securities are not bank deposits and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Deposit Insurance Fund or any other government agency.
- The value of the securities prior to maturity will be influenced by many unpredictable factors, and may be less than the Original Offering Price.
- The value of your securities on the pricing date is less than the Original Offering Price due to the underwriting discount and our cost of hedging, both of which can be expected to be reflected in secondary market prices.
- There are potential conflicts of interest between us and our affiliates and you, and we and our affiliates may take actions that are not in your interest.

Investor Considerations

You may wish to consider an investment in the securities if:

- You are willing to assume the risk that market interest rates may be greater than the applicable interest rate on your securities at any time during the term of the securities.
- You are willing to accept that a trading market is not expected to develop for the securities, and you understand that secondary market prices for the securities, if any, will be affected by various factors, including the actual and perceived creditworthiness of RBSG, as the issuer of the securities.
- You are able to and willing to hold the securities until maturity.
- You are willing to accept the risk that we may redeem the securities prior to maturity and you may be unable to reinvest the proceeds of such redemption at the same rate of interest.
- You are willing to assume the risk that we will likely not redeem the securities prior to maturity if the interest rate on your securities is lower than the market interest rates at a given time.
- You are willing to make an investment, the payments on which depend on the creditworthiness of RBSG, as the issuer of the securities.

The securities may not be an appropriate investment for you if:

- You are unwilling to forgo guaranteed market interest rates for the term of the securities.
- You seek assurances that there will be a liquid market if and when you want to sell the securities prior to maturity.
- You are unwilling to accept the risk that the securities may be redeemed prior to maturity, and are unwilling or unable to accept the risk that you may be unable to reinvest the proceeds of such redemption in an investment with a return that is as high as the return on the securities would have been if they had not been redeemed.
- You are unwilling or are unable to assume the credit risk associated with RBSG, as the issuer of the securities.

Summary Tax Consequences

You should review carefully the section in the accompanying prospectus supplement entitled “United States Federal Income Tax Consequences.” The securities will be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as fixed rate debt instruments that are issued without original issue discount.

Interest paid on a security will be taxable to you as ordinary income at the time it accrues or is received in accordance with your method of tax accounting. Upon the taxable disposition of a security prior to maturity, you will recognize gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized and your basis in the security. For this purpose, the amount realized does not include any amount attributable to accrued interest, which will be treated as a payment of interest. In general, gain or loss realized upon the taxable disposition of a security will be capital gain or loss and will be long-term capital gain or loss if you have held the security for more than one year.

For a discussion of U.K. tax considerations relating to the securities, you should refer to the section in the accompanying prospectus supplement entitled “Certain United Kingdom Tax Consequences.”

You should consult your tax advisor regarding the U.S. federal tax consequences of an investment in the securities, as well as tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local or non-U.S. taxing jurisdiction.

Supplemental Plan of Distribution (Conflicts of Interest)

We have appointed RBS Securities Inc. (“RBSSI”) as our selling agent for this offering. RBSSI will purchase these securities as principal for its own account at the discount set forth on the cover of this pricing supplement. RBSSI has informed us that, as part of its distribution of the securities, it intends to reoffer the securities to other dealers who will sell the securities. Each such dealer engaged by RBSSI, or further engaged by a dealer to whom RBSSI reoffers the securities, will purchase the securities at an agreed concession, not in excess of the discount that RBSSI will receive from us. RBSSI has informed us that such concessions may vary from dealer to dealer and that not all dealers will purchase or repurchase the securities at the same concession. You can find a general description of the commission rates payable to the selling agents under “Plan of Distribution (Conflicts of Interest)” in the accompanying prospectus supplement.

RBSSI is an affiliate of ours. RBSSI will conduct this offering in compliance with the requirements of Rule 5121 of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc., which is commonly referred to as FINRA, regarding a FINRA member firm’s distribution of the securities of an affiliate. Following the initial distribution of any of these securities, RBSSI may offer and sell those securities in the course of its business as a broker-dealer. RBSSI may act as principal or selling agent in those transactions and will make any sales at varying prices related to prevailing market prices at the time of sale or otherwise. RBSSI may use this pricing supplement and the accompanying prospectus supplement, in connection with any of those transactions. RBSSI is not obligated to make a market in any of these securities and may discontinue any market-making activities at any time without notice.

We and our affiliates, including RBSSI, may enter into one or more hedging transactions in connection with this offering of securities. See “Use of Proceeds” in the accompanying prospectus supplement.

In addition, the opinion of Davis Polk & Wardwell LLP is subject to customary assumptions about the establishment of the terms of the securities, the trustee’s authorization, execution and delivery of the Indenture and its authentication of the securities, and the validity, binding nature and enforceability of the Indenture with respect to the trustee, all as stated in the opinion of Davis Polk & Wardwell LLP filed as an exhibit to a report on Form 6-K filed by RBSG on November 20, 2012.
