Message to Ally Associates

January 4, 2016

Ally Leaders:

Today the company announced that one of our stockholders, Lion Point Capital, submitted a nomination for two directors to stand for election to the Ally Board of Directors at the annual meeting in May. The board will carefully consider and evaluate the nominations and communicate to stockholders in due course.

Lion Point advised us that they would take this step if Ally did not comply with a number of demands, including the formation of a Strategic Alternatives Committee of the board. We received the demand letter shortly before Christmas and since that time have engaged with Lion Point to discuss their proposal.

The Ally Board and the Compensation, Nomination, and Governance Committee carefully reviewed the Lion Point demands and concluded that establishing a Strategic Alternatives Committee of the board would not be in the best interests of Ally shareholders, which is the lens by which we evaluate these proposals.

Lion Point is a hedge fund formed in 2014, and it has advised Ally that the firm holds under 1 percent of Ally's common stock.

From an operational perspective, we have much to be proud of, and 2015 boasted many accomplishments in all areas of our business. We need to continue that momentum in 2016 and deliver on our goals each and every day as we build a great company and deliver improved shareholder value over time.

To be clear, the Lion Point nominations have no impact on our operations, and we should remain squarely focused on serving the needs of our customers and delivering the competitive products and services they have come to expect from the company.

Shareholder proposals and activism are not unusual in the corporate landscape, and you should feel confident in the board's ability to manage these matters. I continue to be very encouraged about the opportunities ahead and the kind of company we can build together.

Thank you for all you do.

Jeff Brown (JB)
Chief Executive Officer
