July 26, 2004

To Our Shareholders:

We are pleased to submit to you our report for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2004. The net asset value at that date was $18.49. In addition, during the quarter, three $0.115 per share monthly dividends were declared and paid to common shareholders.

INVESTMENT REVIEW

For the quarter, Cohen & Steers Quality Income Realty Fund had a total return, based on income and change in net asset value, of -9.2%. This compares to the NAREIT Equity REIT Index's(a) total return of -5.8%. For the six months ended June 30, 2004, the fund's total return was 4.3%, compared to NAREIT's 5.5%.

The second quarter of 2004 brought further evidence of a strengthening U.S. economic recovery. The release of the March report on U.S. non-farm payrolls in early April forced many of the pessimistic economic naysayers to acknowledge that the recovery was, in fact, for real.

The second quarter began with a dramatic decline in REIT stock prices, followed by a dramatic rebound and, most importantly, in our view a decisive rotation in leadership within the REIT market. By way of review, the March jobs report took the capital markets by surprise on April 2 and sent the bond market reeling, resulting in the worst quarter for the bond market since the first quarter of 1994. REITs dropped 18% from their highs at the end of March, before bottoming on May 10. We characterized this decline as technical in nature, driven by the valuation concerns of some investors, and one that we believed presented an attractive investment opportunity. In our view, the very jobs report that set off the decline in REIT share prices was likely to contribute to improving real estate fundamentals and greater cash flow for REITs.

We are pleased to report that since then REITs have rebounded significantly, recording a 14% total return from May 10 through the end of June, and were one of the best performing asset classes over this time period. The strong returns of the last two months are certainly inconsistent with the notion put forward by some pundits that REITs tipped into a bear market in the second quarter in sympathy with the bond market. In fact, if the first half of 2004 is a proper guide, we believe REITs are on pace to deliver the low- to mid-teens total return profile that is consistent with the sector's long-term average.

While many observers focused on the uncharacteristic volatility in REIT share prices, the more interesting story in the second quarter was a rotation of leadership within the REIT market. The defensive issues, which had led the REIT group since 2001, have ceded their market leadership to the more cyclically inclined companies that we believe will respond to the economic recovery most quickly and most dramatically. The broad distribution of returns across sectors during the quarter highlights in greater detail this change in leadership, as well as the above-average volatility experienced during the quarter. The best performing sectors were apartment and hotel, which generated total returns of 2.2% and -2.6% respectively. Conversely, the worst performing sectors during the quarter were health care (-13.4% total return) and regional mall (-11.5%). The obvious difference between the two groups is the short lease duration and more variable demand patterns of the strong performing cyclical sectors versus the long lease terms and relatively consistent demand profiles of the laggards, which tend not to respond quickly to accelerating economic growth.

The fund's best performing investments during the quarter were in the apartment and industrial sectors, which produced total returns of 1.0% and -1.8% respectively, while the worst performing sector for the fund was the healthcare sector, which had a -14.8% total return. Apartment companies AvalonBay Communities and AMLI Residential Properties were the fund's best performing holdings, contributing total returns of 6.8% and 5.7% respectively. Laggards during the quarter included Health Care REIT, with a total return of -18.5% and Glimcher Realty Trust, which generated a total return of -16.6%.

Our performance during the quarter was also enhanced by our position in Keystone Property Trust, a small-cap industrial REIT that announced it was being acquired by a joint venture between ProLogis Trust and affiliates of Eaton Vance Management for $23.80 per share in cash, a 14% premium to the previous day's closing price. This transaction is significant for two reasons, among others. One is that it highlights the fact that, in our view, Wall Street continues to underestimate real estate values (the consensus net asset value estimate for Keystone prior to the deal was approximately $18.50 per share). Additionally, we believe the transaction represents another validation of our strategy, as Keystone embodied many of the key attributes we look for in investment candidates. Specifically, these attributes include companies that are relatively under-followed, small to mid-cap in size with an above-average dividend yield, and that are trading at a lower price/NAV ratio than their peers.

INVESTMENT OUTLOOK

In the wake of the REIT stock price decline in the second quarter, many investors have asked us whether REITs can continue to perform well in what many are concerned (overly so, in our view) may be a period of rising interest rates.

Our view has always been and continues to be that real estate fundamentals are the primary driver of REIT returns over the long run. Still, we regularly examine the extent to which REITs are correlated with other asset classes. We have found that over the long term REIT share price behavior has not been statistically related in any material way to the performance of bonds or interest rates. In other words, over time, the performance of the bond market has explained virtually none of the performance of REITs.

COHEN & STEERS QUALITY INCOME REALTY FUND, INC.

Over the short term, REITs may appear to correlate with interest rates, as we have seen recently. However, although we can say with certainty that rising rates result in poor returns for bonds, the REIT return equation cannot be solved using interest rates as the only input variable. Importantly, we have also found that in the 12 months following periods of rising interest rates, as the dampening effect of higher interest rates on security returns has subsided and the acceleration of real estate fundamentals has kicked in, REIT performance historically has been consistently very strong.

Nonetheless, we cannot ignore the fact that interest rates can have an impact on REIT earnings and asset values. Higher interest rates will increase the cost of REITs' debt capital over time, although the impact will be mitigated by REITs' use of primarily long-term, fixed-rate debt. Higher interest rates may also result in higher real estate capitalization rates, which would tend to lower estimates of property values. However, we believe that if interest rates are rising due to a stronger economy and attendant higher inflationary expectations (which in the past have been favorable for real estate fundamentals), this could serve to offset at least some of the impact that higher interest rates would otherwise have on capitalization rates.

Higher interest rates can also have some beneficial effects on REITs. The higher inflationary expectations, which are partially driving higher interest rates, push up the price of building costs, especially inputs like steel, concrete, lumber, labor and construction period interest. Thus the overall replacement cost of real estate escalates, which flows through eventually in the form of higher market rents. Already we are hearing reports that construction costs have risen by as much as 25% over the past two years. If capitalization rates were to rise, the return on assets that REITs could achieve on external acquisitions of property should increase. Furthermore, higher debt costs will tend to choke off development of new, competitive real estate. These higher debt costs tend to have a greater impact on the private developers who typically build the majority of new buildings and use a higher proportion of debt in their capital structure.

Our conclusion is that, although changes in interest rates have a varied impact on REITs, the positive and negative impacts have historically tended to offset one another, such that the overall impact on REIT returns has not generally been material, thus, the historical lack of correlation. What remains material is the supply and demand for real estate and how that impacts building occupancies and rents. The most important thing to recognize about the prospects for REIT returns, in our view, is that the job growth that occurred in March of this year was followed up with strong job growth reports for both April and May. With this key economic driver in place, we believe the prospects for higher building occupancies and rents, and thus for higher cash flows for REITs, are excellent.

At this point, with the first dose of Fed tightening already under our belts and a further rise in interest rates widely anticipated among economists and investors alike, it is safe to say that whatever impact investors believe rising interest rates may have on REITs has been well digested by the stock market. The net effect has been to bring REIT valuations in line with historical averages. In our view, the favorable prospects for accelerating cash flow growth over the next couple of years in combination with these valuations give us confidence that REITs can continue to generate attractive total returns.

Sincerely,

OUR LEVERAGE STRATEGY
(UNAUDITED)

While we do not attempt to predict what future interest rates will be, it has been our philosophy to utilize interest rate swap transactions to seek to reduce the interest rate risk inherent in our utilization of leverage. Our leverage strategy involves issuing auction market preferred shares (AMPS) to raise additional capital for the fund, with an objective of increasing the net income available for shareholders. As of June 30, 2004, AMPS represented 32% of the fund's managed net assets. Considering that AMPS have variable dividend rates, we seek to lock in the rate on a majority of this additional capital through interest rate swap agreements (where we effectively convert our variable rate obligation to a fixed rate obligation for the term of the swap agreements). Specifically, we have fixed the rate on 70% of our borrowings at an average interest rate of 4.9%, for an average remaining period of 3.0 years (when we first entered into the swaps, the average term was 5 years). By locking in a large portion of our leveraging costs, we have endeavored to adequately protect the dividend-paying ability of the fund, which is one of the reasons the fund has been able to increase its monthly dividend on several occasions. The use of leverage increases the volatility of the fund's net asset value in both up and down markets. However, we believe that locking in a portion of the fund's leveraging costs for the term of the swap agreements partially protects the fund from any impact that an increase in short-term interest rates may have as a result of the use of leverage.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (UNAUDITED)

NOTE 1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Cohen & Steers Quality Income Realty Fund, Inc. (the fund) was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland on August 22, 2001 and is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a nondiversified, closed-end management investment company.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The policies are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The preparation of the financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Portfolio Valuation: Investments in securities that are listed on the New York Stock Exchange are valued, except as indicated below, at the last sale price reflected at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the business day as of which such value is being determined. If there has been no sale on such day, the securities are valued at the mean of the closing bid and asked prices for the day. If no bid or asked prices are quoted on such day, then the security is valued by such method as the board of directors shall determine in good faith to reflect its fair market value.

Securities not listed on the New York Stock Exchange but listed on other domestic or foreign securities exchanges or admitted to trading on the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations, Inc. (Nasdaq) national market system are valued in a similar manner. Securities traded on more than one securities exchange are valued at the last sale price on the business day as of which such value is being determined as reflected on the tape at the close of the exchange representing the principal market for such securities.

Readily marketable securities traded in the over-the-counter market, including listed securities whose primary market is believed by the investment manager to be over-the-counter, but excluding securities admitted to trading on the Nasdaq national list, are valued at the official closing prices as reported by Nasdaq, the National Quotations Bureau or such other comparable sources as the board of directors deems appropriate to reflect their fair market value. However, certain fixed-income securities may be valued on the basis of prices provided by a pricing service when such prices are believed by the board of directors to reflect the fair market value of such securities. Where securities are traded on more than one exchange and also over-the-counter, the securities will generally be valued using the quotations the board of directors believes reflect most closely the value of such securities.

Short-term debt securities, which have a maturity of 60 days or less, are valued at amortized cost which approximates value.

Interest Rate Swaps: The fund uses interest rate swaps in connection with the sale of auction market preferred shares. The interest rate swaps are intended to reduce or eliminate the risk that an increase in short-term interest rates could have on the performance of the fund's common shares as a result of the floating rate nature of leverage. In an interest rate swap, the fund agrees to pay the other party to the interest rate swap (which is known as the counterparty) a fixed rate payment in exchange for the counterparty agreeing to pay the fund a variable rate payment that is intended to approximate the fund's variable rate payment obligation on the auction market preferred shares. The payment obligation is based on the notional amount of the swap. Depending on the state of interest rates in general, the use of interest rate swaps could enhance or harm the overall performance of the common shares. The market value of interest rate swaps is based on pricing models that consider the time value of money, volatility, the current market and contractual prices of the underlying financial instrument. Unrealized gains are reported as an asset and unrealized losses are reported as a liability on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. The change in value of swaps, including the periodic amounts of interest to be paid or received on swaps, is reported as unrealized gains or losses in the

Statement of Operations. A realized gain or loss is recorded upon payment or receipt of a periodic payment or termination of swap agreements. Swap agreements involve, to varying degrees, elements of market and counterparty risk, and exposure to loss in excess of the related amounts reflected in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

Security Transactions and Investment Income: Security transactions are recorded on trade date. Realized gains and losses on investments sold are recorded on the basis of identified cost. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. The fund records distributions received in excess of income from underlying investments as a reduction of cost of investments and/or realized gain. Such amounts are based on estimates if actual amounts are not available, and actual amounts of income, realized gain and return of capital may differ from the estimated amounts. The fund adjusts the estimated amounts of the components of distributions (and consequently its net investment income) as an increase to unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments as necessary once the issuers provide information about the actual composition of the distributions.

Dividends and Distributions to Shareholders: Dividends from net investment income are declared and paid to common shareholders monthly. Dividends to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. A portion of the fund's dividend may consist of amounts in excess of net investment income derived from nontaxable components of the dividends from the fund's portfolio investments. Net realized capital gains, unless offset by any available capital loss carryforward, are distributed to shareholders annually.

Dividends from net investment income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with U.S. federal income tax regulations which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles.

Series T, Series TH, and Series F preferred shares pay dividends based on a variable interest rate set at auctions, normally held every seven days. Dividends for Series T, Series TH, and Series F preferred shares are declared and recorded for the subsequent seven day period on the auction date. In most instances, dividends are payable every seven days, on the first business day following the end of the dividend period.

Series M28 and Series W preferred shares pay dividends based on a variable interest rate set at auctions, normally held every 28 days. Dividends for Series M28 and Series W preferred shares are declared and recorded for the subsequent 28 day period on the auction date. In most instances, dividends are payable every 28 days, on the first business day following the end of the dividend period.

Federal Income Taxes: It is the policy of the fund to qualify as a regulated investment company, if such qualification is in the best interest of the shareholders, by complying with the requirements of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies, and by distributing substantially all of its taxable earnings to its shareholders. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise tax is necessary.

NOTE 2. INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT FEES, ADMINISTRATION FEES AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

Investment Management Fees: Cohen & Steers Capital Management, Inc. (the investment manager) serves as the investment manager to the fund, pursuant to an investment management agreement (the management agreement). The investment manager furnishes a continuous investment program for the fund's portfolio, makes the day-to-day investment decisions for the fund and generally manages the fund's investments in accordance with the stated policies of the fund, subject to the general supervision of the board of directors of the fund. The investment manager also performs certain administrative services for the fund.

For the services under the management agreement, the fund pays the investment manager a monthly management fee, computed daily and payable monthly at an annual rate of 0.85% of the fund's average daily managed asset value. Managed asset value is the net asset value of the common shares plus the liquidation preference of the preferred shares. For the six months ended June 30, 2004, the fund incurred investment management fees of $4,486,517.

The investment manager has contractually agreed to waive investment management fees in the amount of 0.32% of average daily managed asset value for the first five fiscal years of the fund's operations, 0.26% of average daily managed asset value in year six, 0.20% of average daily managed asset value in year seven, 0.14% of average daily managed asset value in year eight, 0.08% of average daily managed asset value in year nine and 0.02% of average daily managed asset value in year 10. As long as this waiver continues, it may lower the fund's expenses and increase its total return. For the six months ended June 30, 2004, the investment manager waived management fees of $1,689,042.

Administration Fees: Pursuant to an administration agreement, the investment manager also performs certain administrative and accounting functions for the fund and receives a fee of 0.02% of the fund's average daily managed asset value. For the six months ended June 30, 2004, the fund incurred $105,565 in administration fees.

Director's Fees: Certain directors and officers of the fund are also directors, officers and/or employees of the investment manager. None of the directors and officers so affiliated received compensation for their services. For the six months ended June 30, 2004, fees and related expenses accrued for nonaffiliated directors totaled $20,976.

(2) maintain the 1940 Act preferred shares asset coverage, or (3) file a required certificate related to asset coverage on time, the preferred shares will be subject to a mandatory redemption at the redemption price of $25,000 per share plus an amount equal to accumulated but unpaid dividends thereon to the date fixed for redemption. To the extent permitted under the 1940 Act and Maryland Law, the fund at its option may without consent of the holders of preferred shares, redeem preferred shares having a dividend period of one year or less, in whole, or in part, on the business day after the last day of such dividend period upon not less than 15 calendar days and not more than 40 calendar days prior to notice. The optional redemption price is $25,000 per share plus an amount equal to accumulated but unpaid dividends thereon to the date fixed for redemption. The fund's common shares and preferred shares have equal voting rights of one vote per share and vote together as a single class. In addition, the affirmative vote of the holders a majority, as defined in the 1940 Act, of the outstanding preferred shares shall be required to (1) approve any plan of reorganization that would adversely affect the taxable auction market preferred shares and (2) approve any matter that materially and adversely affects the rights, preferences, or powers of that series.

NOTE 6. INVESTMENTS IN INTEREST RATE SWAPS

The fund has entered into interest rate swap agreements with Merrill Lynch Derivative Products, UBS AG, Fleet National Bank, and Royal Bank of Canada. Under the agreements the fund receives a floating rate of interest and pays a respective fixed rate of interest on the nominal value of the swaps. Details of the swaps at June 30, 2004 are as follows:
