In addition, representatives from the Company will be presenting various topics at the Society of Exploration Geophysicists (SEG) International Exposition and Annual Meeting, to be held from October 1, 2006 to October 6, 2006 in New Orleans, Louisiana. At approximately 4:00 p.m. on Monday October 2, 2006, at its booth on the SEG exposition floor, the Company will introduce Scorpion®, the Company's new cable-based land recording system. Commencing at approximately 3:00 p.m. Central Time on Tuesday October 3, 2006, representatives of the Company will present various topics at the SEG, including information regarding Scorpion® and other Company products.

The information contained in Item 7.01 of this report (i) is not to be considered filed under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act) and (ii) shall not be incorporated by reference into any previous or future filings made by or to be made by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Exchange Act.

The presentations referenced in this report and any oral or written statements made in connection with the presentations may contain certain forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These forward-looking statements may include statements concerning estimated revenues, expected timing of future revenues and growth rates, estimated gross margins and operating expenses for fiscal 2006, future sales and market growth, timing of product introduction and commercialization, and other statements that are not statements of historical fact. Actual results may vary materially from those described in the forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements will reflect numerous assumptions and involve a number of risks and uncertainties. These risks and uncertainties may include: unanticipated delays in the timing and development of the Company's products and services and market acceptance of the Company's new and revised product offerings; risks associated with competitors' product offerings and pricing pressures resulting therefrom; the relatively small number of customers that the Company currently relies upon; the fact that a significant portion of the Company's revenues is derived from foreign sales; the risks that sources of capital may not prove adequate; the Company's inability to produce products to preserve and increase market share; and technological and marketplace changes affecting the Company's product line. Additional risk factors, which could affect actual results, are disclosed by the Company from time to time in its filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended June 30, 2006.
