 negative impact on Leasing and Investment Sale transaction - related revenue, the Company’s profitability suffered In contrast to other industry leaders, C&W did not require a capital increase because of its conservative capital structure and the support of EXOR through a $50mn committed credit facility EXOR focused on: – Improving business mix from a predominantly US - based transaction firm to a global, diversified real estate service provider – Improving operating margins and bridging the gap with top 2 industry leaders – Positioning the company to hire the right talent to grow in a supportive environment for real estate services EXOR and C&W sign definitive agreement to sell C&W to DTZ. Merger will create one of the world’s largest real estate service companies The transaction establishes a total enterprise value for C&W of $2.042bn and is expected to generate net proceeds of $1.278bn for EXOR Q1 2015

Transform C&W business from a predominantly US - based transaction firm to a global, diversified real estate service provider

Focus on improving operations and business operating leverage to reduce gap vs. industry leaders

Create a company culture supportive to hire and retain talent

Provide the financial resources required to grow the business

- C&W Business transformation required very limited M&A activity and resulted predominantly through organic growth initiatives
- C&W is the only company amongst top 3 industry leaders to have improved EBITDA margin since 2006
- EXOR focused on retaining earnings within C&W to support organic growth (only $10mn in aggregate dividends paid to shareholders from 2007 to 2014)

$137.50 PER SHARE A LL - CASH BINDING OFFER TO ACQUIRE P ARTNER R E

14 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY (1/2) EXOR's Binding Offer to acquire PartnerRe common shares for $137.50 per share in cash, $6.8 billion in total, is clearly superior to the AXIS transaction: 10% premium to the implied value of PartnerRe under the Revised AXIS Amalgamation 1 All - cash consideration delivers immediate and certain value at closing Superior contract terms compared to AXIS Also superior for preferred shareholders and other constituencies EXOR encourages the PartnerRe Board to engage constructively in compliance with the topping procedures in its existing AXIS Agreement In particular, EXOR fails to understand why the PartnerRe Board, which in January approved the AXIS transaction valuing PartnerRe at $107.54 per share 2 , now finds EXOR's $137.50 per share Binding Offer unacceptable for its shareholders EXOR's continued willingness to engage in good faith to further improve its closing certainty gives the PartnerRe Board the opportunity to reverse its previous course of action and act in the best interests of its shareholders and other stakeholders (preferred owners, employees, clients) 1 - Based on AXIS' unaffected closing share price of $52.14 on 5/5/2015 (last closing price prior to takeover speculation for AX IS if the AXIS Agreement is terminated) 2 - Consists of 2.18 shares of AXIS per PartnerRe share. Based on AXIS' share price of $49.33 on 1/23/2015 (last closing price b efore the Initial AXIS Agreement was announced)

15 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY (2/2) Should the PartnerRe Board continue to refuse to engage properly, EXOR is determined to work directly with PartnerRe's shareholders. EXOR has filed a preliminary proxy statement with the SEC to solicit votes from PartnerRe shareholders "AGAINST" the AXIS Agreement at the special general meeting. PartnerRe shareholders may exercise their sovereignty by voting "AGAINST" the AXIS Agreement at the upcoming shareholder meeting with confidence that EXOR's Binding Offer will remain actionable. EXOR Binding Offer included definitive merger agreement signed by EXOR parties. EXOR Binding Offer may be accepted by PartnerRe by countersigning the merger agreement as soon as the AXIS Agreement is terminated. 1. No due diligence or other actions required by EXOR. Investment grade bridge facility fully executed and syndicated. EXOR remains fully committed to consummating its superior transaction. Invested $609 million to purchase a 9.9% stake in PartnerRe. 1. The offer remains open until 5:00pm Bermuda time on the earlier of the second date following termination of the AXIS amalgamation agreement and 7/11/2015 (which is two days following the expected date of the special general meeting of PartnerRe shareholders to consider the AXIS transaction). The offer will become null and void if PartnerRe has not accepted the offer by delivery of the countersignature to the merger agreement prior to the expiration time noted above or if such acceptance would violate law.

In contrast, the value of the AXIS Transaction remains uncertain and is subject to many factors: Realization of meaningful synergies, Execution of complex integration, Retention of key clients and employees, Potential for large catastrophe losses, Market risk, Impact of challenging operating environment. Cash offer is particularly attractive when PartnerRe management projects earnings to decline. PARTNER RE PROJECTED OPERATING EARNINGS 1 ($MN) KEY OPERATING CHALLENGES: Growing reinsurance industry capital base, P&C reinsurance pricing still under pressure, Increasing retention level by primary insurers, Depletion of favorable reserve releases, Continued low interest rate environment.

21 In contrast to the AXIS Agreement, the Merger Agreement signed by the EXOR parties has : x No minimum “A - ” A.M . Best rating closing condition, which is present in the AXIS Agreement. This clause allows AXIS to terminate the existing transaction in the event of material losses incurred by PartnerRe x No requirement for EXOR shareholder approval (AXIS shareholder approval is required under the AXIS Agreement) x Appropriately sized “breakup” fee of $250 million, representing approximately 3.7% of the total equity value of the transaction vs . the 4.5% amount under the AXIS Agreement (the revised AXIS Agreement increased the breakup fee by $30 million, an amount equal to 11% of the incremental value to PartnerRe shareholders) x N o preclusive changes to the ordinary definition of “Superior Proposal” (as made in the revised AXIS Agreement) allowing customary process for competing offers Otherwise, the Merger Agreement has substantially the same terms and conditions as under the AXIS Agreement (but for changes dictated by the cash nature of the EXOR offer and changes to reflect termination of the AXIS Agreement) EXOR’S BINDING OFFER ALSO HAS SUPERIOR CONTRACT TERMS

22 EXOR'S TRANSACTION ALSO SUPERIOR FOR PREFERRED SHAREHOLDERS SUPERIOR FINANCIAL STRENGTH AND CREDITWORTHINESS The transaction proposed by EXOR will have no impact on the existing financial strength of PartnerRe; no new debt will be incurred by PartnerRe, no extraordinary dividend will be paid Conversely, under the AXIS transaction, PartnerRe is to pay an approximately $560mn special cash dividend, or $11.50 per share, at closing EXOR has significant financial resources with $15bn NAV 1 and, over the past 100 years, a successful track record of consistently supporting its portfolio companies EXOR to bolster PartnerRe's financial strength with more conservative capital distribution policy By contrast, a combined AXIS - PartnerRe plans to return all of its combined earnings to shareholders via dividends and shares repurchases 2 + = M AINTAINS CURRENT TERMS AND RIGHTS After the EXOR transaction, PartnerRe preferred equity securities will remain outstanding with current terms and rights and continued listing, registration and reporting requirements under the Exchange Act SAME TAX TREATMENT No difference in tax treatment to Preferred holders between the EXOR Transaction and the AXIS Transaction = SAME TREATMENT OF THE PREFERRED SHARES AS UNDER THE AXIS AGREEMENT, BUT IN A STRONGER AND SAFER COMPANY NO INTEGRATION RISK PartnerRe will operate as the same standalone business of today with continuity of management, employees and brand Avoids the widespread "redundancies" of the AXIS transaction that may further weaken the franchise and its financial strength Avoids the risk of client losses due to the competitive concerns created by the AXIS transaction, where AXIS primary insurance operations compete with PartnerRe's existing client base + 1 - EXOR Net Asset Value as of 5/26/2015 2 - As disclosed by AXIS on its conference call on 5/4/2015

24 NO SUBSTANTIVE REGULATORY RISKS AND HIGH CLOSING CERTAINTY FOR THE EXOR TRANSACTION PROVEN REGULATORY TRACK RECORD PROVIDES GREATER CERTAINTY TO REGULATORS EXOR has invested in insurance and reinsurance in the past and currently owns insurance and other regulated financial service businesses in several jurisdictions EXOR has a proven track record of completing very complex transactions EXOR has engaged a highly experienced team of regulatory counsels in Bermuda, Hong Kong, Ireland, Singapore, the United Kingdom and the United States (including the states of Delaware, Montana, New York and Ohio) The global regulatory team has made meaningful progress in preparing applications and submissions to the extent required in various jurisdictions Unlike the AXIS bid, EXOR's Binding Offer does not involve a complex integration, a change in management or the business plan of the regulated insurance companies EXOR does not compete with PartnerRe and the EXOR Binding Offer is not anti - competitive, so we do not expect any substantive antitrust issues Unlike the AXIS transaction, which strips $560 million of cash from PartnerRe to pay an extraordinary dividend, EXOR's Binding Offer does not involve any extraordinary dividend EXOR expects to enhance PartnerRe's financial strength by adopting a capital distribution policy more conservative than the one employed by PartnerRe and AXIS in the past EXOR FULLY COMMITTED TO COMPLETING TRANSACTION EXOR Merger Agreement requires use of "reasonable best efforts" to obtain the necessary regulatory approvals – a very high legal standard and the exact same covenant that applies in the AXIS amalgamation agreement EXOR has shown its commitment to completing the transaction by investing approximately $609 million in cash to become PartnerRe's largest shareholder CERTAINTY OF EXOR'S CLOSING IS ADDRESSED IN DETAIL IN THE APPENDIX

25 DECEMBER / JANUARY APRIL 14 TO MAY 4 PartnerRe Board approached single party to seek combination, agreeing to transaction within one week Deal with AXIS priced at $107.54 per share, a 6% discount to PartnerRe's unaffected share price of $114.14 PartnerRe Board couched sale of Company as an MOE to justify lower value, but AXIS management to fill CEO, CFO and other key senior management positions Agreed to aggressive deal protection mechanics with AXIS, including an outsized $285mn break fee and expense reimbursement PartnerRe management and financial advisors apparently excluded from key decision process Transaction Committee of three non - executive directors designed process that led to PartnerRe's CEO resigning immediately upon the announcement of the AXIS transaction, leaving shareholders with an outside director (and a member of the Transaction Committee) being named as interim CEO Interim CEO given material bonuses tied to closing of AXIS Agreement; other two Transaction Committee members with personal economic benefits tied to the AXIS Agreement On April 14, EXOR submitted initial all - cash offer valuing PartnerRe at $130 per share AXIS and PartnerRe Transaction Committee jointly approved highly unusual "waiver" process to circumvent topping procedures in AXIS Agreement EXOR engaged in good faith with PartnerRe Board, satisfying all queries while receiving no due diligence information Instead of negotiating with EXOR, PartnerRe used the waiver process to renegotiate with AXIS AXIS / PartnerRe effectively acknowledged superiority of EXOR's offer by announcing revised transaction involving $11.50 per share pre - close special dividend to PartnerRe shareholders Revised AXIS Agreement increased breakup fee by $30mn, 11% of the $270mn of incremental value to PartnerRe shareholders PartnerRe Chairman on record publicly stating that competing bidders "should have the good sense to stay away" The process had flaws from inception EXOR tried to negotiate on friendly terms but PartnerRe would not engage bilaterally or grant due diligence REVIEW OF PARTNER RE ACTIONS TO DATE (1/2)

26 M AY 12 TO M AY 22 EXOR has provided a clear path for shareholders and calls for PartnerRe to treat shareholders fairly regarding vote solicitation for the AXIS transaction On May 12, EXOR submitted revised all - cash Binding Offer of $137.50 per share EXOR Binding Offer represented $370mn increase vs. initial EXOR offer, further widening value gap when compared to the $270mn of incremental value provided to PartnerRe shareholders by the revised AXIS Agreement EXOR Binding Offer also included more favorable contract terms to PartnerRe than AXIS Revised Transaction On May 20, PartnerRe Board attempted to create impression of openness by offering engagement, but again only through a highly unusual “waiver” circumventing topping procedures in the AXIS Agreement On May 21, EXOR offered to engage in good faith with PartnerRe to further improve deal certainty, in compliance with the AXIS Agreement procedures On May 22, the PartnerRe Board concluded EXOR’s price and terms were unacceptable. The Company is proceeding to shareholder approval of deal with AXIS, but has not disclosed the record or meeting date On May 22, the PartnerRe Board also rejected EXOR’s standard request for the list of beneficial shareholders so that EXOR and PartnerRe are on equal footing in communicating with shareholders regarding the AXIS vote REVIEW OF P ARTNER R E ACTIONS TO DATE (2/2)

27 In its May 12 submission of its Binding Offer, EXOR provided a clear path for the PartnerRe Board to enter into a mutually satisfactory transaction. EXOR is still willing to negotiate in good faith with the PartnerRe Board to provide further deal certainty on the following basis: EXOR offer price is firm at $137.50 per share. PartnerRe Board recognizes EXOR's Binding Offer is reasonably likely to be a "Superior Proposal" as defined in the AXIS Agreement. EXOR's proposed process of engagement with the PartnerRe Board: R respects the procedures to deal with third party proposals the PartnerRe Board itself negotiated with AXIS. Does not place any risk on PartnerRe shareholders because the existing AXIS Agreement will continue to remain effective. EXOR REMAINS WILLING TO ENGAGE

28 EXOR EXPECTS TO BE ABLE TO CLOSE TRANSACTION IN FOURTH QUARTER OF 2015, ASSUMING NO FURTHER DELAYS FROM P ARTNER R E BOARD 1. EXOR's Binding Offer provides PartnerRe shareholders with certainty of execution Binding Offer contains EXOR signature pages to the Merger Agreement Executable by PartnerRe immediately upon termination of the AXIS Agreement 1 2. EXOR filed proxy materials with the SEC to solicit shareholders to vote "AGAINST" the AXIS Agreement at the PartnerRe special general meeting 3. After termination of the AXIS Agreement 1 , PartnerRe's Board can simply execute its signature pages to accept the EXOR Binding Offer with no further action required by EXOR, thus providing shareholders with a clear avenue to achieving the certain and superior value offered by EXOR ACTIONABLE ALTERNATIVE AND SHAREHOLDER SOVEREIGNITY 1 - The offer remains open until 5:00pm Bermuda time on the earlier of the second date following termination of the AXIS amalgamation agreement and 7/11/2015 (which is two days following the expected date of the special general meeting of PartnerRe shareholders to consider the AXIS transaction). The offer will become null and void if PartnerRe has not accepted the offer by delivery of the countersignature to the merger agreement prior to the expiration time noted above o r i f such acceptance would violate law

APPENDIX

31 In its May 20, 2015 letter to EXOR, PartnerRe provided the following non - price criticisms of the EXOR Merger Agreement: 1. EXOR parent and its controlling shareholders have no contractual obligation to actually make the required regulatory filings or otherwise assist in obtaining regulatory approvals • The Merger Agreement requires the EXOR parties to use their reasonable best efforts to obtain all required regulatory approvals, including an express obligation to obtain information from affiliates • This is the same exact covenant that was found acceptable in the AXIS Agreement PartnerRe Criticism EXOR Response • EXOR expects to obtain all required regulatory approvals to acquire PartnerRe as: i. EXOR has invested in insurance and reinsurance in the past and currently owns insurance and other regulated financial service businesses in several jurisdictions ii. EXOR has engaged a highly experienced team of global regulatory counsels that have already made meaningful progress in preparing applications and submissions to the extent required in various jurisdictions • EXOR has spent over $609 million to become PartnerRe's largest shareholder, unequivocally proving that EXOR is fully incentivized to complete a transaction with PartnerRe • EXOR is willing to consider in good faith reasonable requests to provide additional closing certainty through guarantees of these non - financial regulatory closing obligations EXOR'S BINDING OFFER: FOCUS ON OTHER CLOSING CERTAINTY ASPECTS (1/3) 2. EXOR is not properly incentivized to obtain regulatory approvals because EXOR's offer does not include a regulatory termination fee that would require EXOR to pay a sizeable fee in the event EXOR is unable to obtain such approvals 3. EXOR's parent guarantee only guarantees the payment obligations of the EXOR subsidiary if a transaction were to close. If the EXOR parties to the proposed merger agreement breached any of their other obligations, PartnerRe would have limited recourse

32 4. The deal protection measures in EXOR's proposed merger agreement are not appropriate in the context of an all-cash transaction, especially one without a pre-signing market check • The deal protection measures are more favorable in the EXOR Merger Agreement than in the AXIS Agreement • PartnerRe's stated concerns on this point are a red herring, as: i. No other proposals have surfaced since the AXIS Agreement was announced on January 25, 2015 and ii. EXOR would have no objections if PartnerRe would decide to solicit additional interest from now until the signing of the EXOR Merger Agreement • EXOR $137.50 per share all-cash Binding Offer fully compensates PartnerRe shareholders for the increased value of PartnerRe's business until closing of the EXOR transaction (expected to occur at the end of 2015) • The EXOR Merger Agreement permits also cash dividends of up to $0.70 per common share per quarter until closing (plus a pro-rated dividend through the closing date) • Under the EXOR Binding Offer, PartnerRe shareholders will receive certain value of $137.50 per share in cash, even if PartnerRe suffers significant catastrophe losses prior to closing. This is in contrast with the AXIS transaction where PartnerRe's shareholders tangible book value per share will be reduced by any catastrophe losses prior or after closing • Timing risk does not exist under EXOR's all-cash Binding Offer for two reasons: i. EXOR removed the A.M. Best "A -" minimum rating condition to closing (that AXIS has in its transaction agreement) ii. EXOR excluded catastrophe losses from the closing conditions related to material adverse effects 5. EXOR's offer should, but fails, to adequately compensate PartnerRe's shareholders for both (i) the increased value in PartnerRe's business between now and the closing of any potential transaction with EXOR and (ii) the increased risk posed to PartnerRe's shareholders by virtue of the delay inherent in a transaction with EXOR relative to the AXIS transaction, which is expected to be able to close at or shortly following shareholder approval PartnerRe Criticism EXOR Response EXOR'S BINDING OFFER: FOCUS ON OTHER CLOSING CERTAINTY ASPECTS (2/3)

33 • EXOR Binding Offer entails no optionality as: i. It has the same exact covenant of the AXIS Agreement to obtain all required regulatory approvals ii. It has more closing certainty than the AXIS Agreement (e.g., no minimum “A - ” A.M. Best rating closing condition) • EXOR’s offer fully anticipates the payment of the $315 million of fees and expenses to AXIS prior to entry of the Merger Agreement. PartnerRe cannot in good faith suggest that it is precluded from accepting the Superior Proposal because of the breakup fee it owes AXIS where the topping bidder is willing to accept that value depletion in making its Superior Proposal 6. EXOR’s offer entails significant optionality that would allow EXOR to walk away from a transaction without consequence, requires PartnerRe’s shareholders to bear the risk of paying up to $315 million of termination fees and expense reimbursement to AXIS and imposes incremental execution risk while failing to adequately compensate shareholders in return PartnerRe Criticism EXOR Response EXOR’S BINDING OFFER: FOCUS ON OTHER CLOSING CERTAINTY ASPECTS (3 /3)
