Key Energy Services, Inc. announced on March 15, 2004 that it has filed notice with the Securities and Exchange Commission on Form 12b-25 to extend the period in which it intends to file its Annual Report on Form 10-K. The 12b-25 extension allows the Company to file the Annual Report on Form 10-K on or before March 30, 2004.

The Company's audit of its 2003 results is not yet complete. The Company has not yet completed a review and analysis of certain idle equipment to determine proper classification, remaining depreciable lives, expected future use, and potential impairment. The Company expects to complete this review and file its Annual Report on Form 10-K on or before March 30, 2004. The book value of the items currently under review is approximately $55 million, net of estimated disposal value. The actual amount of any write-down or impairment will not be known until the review is complete. Today, the Company has total assets in excess of $1.5 billion and net fixed assets in excess of $900 million.

The review may result in a revision to the previously announced 2003 earnings but will not change the previously announced revenue or EBITDA, as adjusted, for 2003 and will not change the Company's previously announced forecasts for 2004. Further, the underlying fundamentals for the Company's operations are strong and the outlook remains positive.

Key Energy Services, Inc. had previously announced its operating results for the quarter and year ended December 31, 2003 on February 17, 2004 as follows:

	 Quarter Ended			Year E			Ended

A reconciliation of Adjusted EBITDA to its most directly comparable GAAP measure is presented at the end of this current report.

Earnings (Loss) per diluted share is before discontinued operations and the cumulative effective of a change in accounting principle, net of tax.

The foregoing results are subject to completion of the Company's 2003 audit.

Rig hours for the December 2003 quarter totaled approximately 576,520, representing a 5.0% increase over total rig hours of approximately 548,974 for the December 2002 quarter while trucking hours for the December quarter totaled approximately 718,632, representing a 5.6% increase over total truck hours of approximately 680,222 for the December 2002 quarter. As anticipated, activity levels for the December 2003 quarter were down from the September 2003 quarter due to the impact of fewer working days, holidays and daylight hours. For the year ended December 31, 2003, revenue and earnings from continuing operations improved significantly as activity levels and pricing strengthened from 2002 levels. Additionally, the Company generated significant free cash flow during 2003 which was used to retire high cost debt.

Activity levels in 2004 have strengthened further. Rig hours through the first six weeks of 2004 are approximately 4.5% higher than the same period for the prior year and are expected to improve from their current levels. Recently, inquiries for all of Key's product lines have increased, particularly in Key's pressure pumping and rental tool operations. Furthermore, during the March 2004 quarter, the Company expanded its well servicing and drilling operations by introducing several well service rigs and one drilling rig to the North Texas market, marking the first time the Company has provided well service rigs to this market. The Company anticipates operating a minimum of six well service rigs and two drilling rigs in that region during 2004. Additionally, the Company has recently remanufactured three well service rigs which will be sent to Argentina, where the Company is currently running at full utilization.

Assuming activity levels continue to improve, the Company is currently forecasting the following operating results:

This guidance assumes that oil and natural gas prices remain above $28.00 and $4.50, respectively, during 2004. Management currently believes that with these commodity prices, capital spending by the Company's customers should improve approximately 5% to 10% during 2004. In addition, this guidance assumes limited impact with respect to Key's composite hourly rates and a 2004 capital expenditure budget of approximately $85 million. A substantial variance in commodity prices could result in a significant variance in the Company's actual operating results.

Francis D. John, Chairman and CEO, stated, "Over the past year, Key has demonstrated substantial operating improvements and is prepared for what we believe will be a prolonged period of stable activity levels in the North American oil and natural gas markets. During the past twelve months, Key (i) introduced its proprietary KeyView system, a significant technological advancement in the well servicing industry, (ii) remanufactured 76 well service rigs; (iii) retired the remaining $97.5 million of 14% Notes, thereby reducing annual interest costs from the previous run rate by over $13 million annually; (iv) significantly improved its safety performance which resulted in declines in both its workers compensation and general liability costs in 2003 and expects further improvement in 2004; and (v) expanded its U.S. rental tool, pressure pumping and trucking operations through several niche acquisitions."

Mr. John continued, "In addition to all the improvements made during 2003, we are especially well positioned for 2004. Based on announcements made by many of our customers with regard to their capital spending plans, activity levels should continue to improve. Already through mid-February, Key's activity levels are higher than our original expectations despite a modest decline in the Baker Hughes land drilling rig count during the month of January. Based on current activity levels, as well as our expectations for increased drilling and workover activity later this year, we believe that earnings per diluted share for 2004 will total between $0.35 and $0.46, excluding debt retirement costs."

Mr. John concluded, "With our 2004 objectives set, we intend to benefit from our strong operating leverage. We will continue to rollout the KeyView system with a goal of having 250 rigs equipped with the technology by year end and will maintain our rig remanufacturing program. We will seek opportunities to expand our rental tool operations domestically ande will continue to develop our international operations. As always, we will continue to focus on free cash flow. With respect to the balance sheet, having just retired our 14% Notes, we now turn our attention to Key's $275 million of 8³/₈% Notes which are callable on March 1, 2005. Assuming no material change in interest rates, we anticipate calling those Notes which will generate additional annual interest savings of over $10 million annually. This, along with all of our other ongoing cost reduction initiatives and the prospect of a prolonged upcycle due to the strong North American gas markets, should make for a meaningful improvement in results into 2005."

A reconciliation of net funded debt to total capitalization to its most directly comparable GAAP measure is presented at the end of this current report.

RECONCILIATIONS OF NON-GAAP TO GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES

In compliance with Regulation G, set forth below is a reconciliation of the non-GAAP financial measures presented in this current report to their most directly comparable financial measures calculated in accordance with GAAP.

Adjusted EBITDA: Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP financial measure that represents the Company's earnings before interest expense, taxes, depreciation, depletion and amortization, bad debt expense, (gains) losses on retirement of debt, foreign currency transaction (gains) losses, discontinued operations and cumulative effect for the period indicated. Management considers Adjusted EBITDA to be a measure of both performance and liquidity. In addition, management believes that Adjusted EBITDA is sometimes useful to compare the operating results of companies within an industry due to the fact that it eliminates certain financing decisions. However, Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered as an alternative to GAAP measures of performance, such as net income or cash flow. The term "GAAP" refers to generally accepted accounting principles.

RECONCILIATIONS OF NON-GAAP TO GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES

Net Funded Debt to Total Capitalization: Net funded debt to total capitalization is a non-GAAP financial measure that represents total debt (including capital leases) less cash and cash equivalents over total capitalization, which consists of total debt (including capital leases) less cash and cash equivalents plus stockholders' equity. Management considers net funded debt to total capitalization to be a measure of liquidity and believes that it is a more useful measure than total debt to total capitalization since the cash on hand can be used to retire outstanding debt.
