Q. Why are you taking the Sterling name?

A. Over its nearly 85 year history, Sterling has built a strong brand name and a legacy of trust and loyalty throughout the New York metropolitan area. This brand name provides the best opportunity for the combined company to more effectively deliver our services throughout the area. We have been unable to use the Provident name in New Jersey due to the presence of a large New Jersey based bank with a similar name. This conflict will be resolved with our new bank name.

Q. Will my point of contact/relationship manager change?

A. No. Please reach out to your relationship manager at Provident Bank with any concerns or needs.

Q. When can I start banking at Sterling National Bank locations?

A. At this time please continue to bank at the same branches and website you use today. Any change regarding your day-to-day banking will not take place until closing of the transaction. We will update you well in advance of any possible changes.

Q. When will I be issued new checks, debit card, deposit slips, etc. with the Sterling name?

A. New checks, debit cards, and deposit slips will be issued after the merger closes and the name change has taken effect. However, you can continue to use your existing account materials now and even after the name change until they expire or are depleted. Provident clients will not be required to obtain new account materials as a result of this merger.

Q. Who should I contact if I have questions?

A. Please reach out to your financial center or relationship manager at Provident Bank if you have any questions about the transaction or for assistance with your existing accounts, loans, and other financial services.
