eRaider website for the purpose of aggressive oversight and improved value. There is no formal or informal group agreement. All discussions between eRaider and Goldfield shareholders have been one-on-one with individual shareholders, except one three-way conference call, or have taken place on public Internet message boards. eRaider has participated in no discussions concerning purchase or sale of securities. eRaider has not paid or received any money in connection with organizing Goldfield shareholders. eRaider has contacted other large shareholders, including Anthony J. Ford, Melba Ford, Sam Rebotsky, Joe Cocalis, James Cocalis, Moshe Rosen, Richard Greenberg and Thomasz Motylewski to initiate discussions about taking group action, including voting together on shareholder resolutions and board elections. Some of these shareholders have submitted shareholder resolutions drafted by eRaider. eRaider has nominated Aaron Brown, Deborah Pastor, Sam Rebotsky, Moshe Rosen and James Cocalis as directors for election at the next annual meeting. The five nominated individuals, plus Joe Cocalis, now intend to solicit proxies to support the director slate and shareholder proposals. This may make them a group. Of the other shareholders above, Anthony Ford disclaims group membership on his own behalf and that of his wife Melba Ford, while Richard Greenberg and Thomasz Motylewski have participated in discussions that might make them members of a group, if a group exists. If the above shareholders, plus the Allied Owners Action Fund, were to be considered a group they would control approximately 3,691,000 shares (13.7%) of Goldfield's common shares. In addition, an unknown number of shares are controlled by people who participate at our message board, some of whom have made unsolicited offers to vote as directed by eRaider.

(a) The owners of eRaider also own and control Privateer Asset Management Inc. which manages the Allied Owners Action Fund, a public open-end mutual fund. The Allied Owners Action Fund has acquired 290,000 shares (approximately 1.1%) of the shares of The Goldfield Corporation. The Allied Owners Action Fund generally does not buy or sell securities after announcement and has no present plans to buy or sell.

(b) eRaider has discussed sale or liquidation of the St. Cloud Mining and Southeast Power subsidiaries, also the termination of real estate development activities undertaken under various subsidiaries. The above shareholders have significant disagreements with each other on these issues.

(c) eRaider has discussed sales of assets, including mining and real estate assets. The above shareholders have significant disagreements with each other on these issues.

(d) eRaider has nominated an alternative board slate that would replace all existing board members. The above shareholders, except the Fords, may be assumed to support this slate, although there is no formal agreement to vote for it. Also, since Goldfield allows cumulative voting, it is possible that the above shareholders will allocate their votes differently, even if they all vote for alternative slate nominees.

(e) eRaider has discussed business and financial changes which would affect the amount of debt issued by the company. The above shareholders have significant disagreements with each other on this issue.

(f) eRaider believes the company should focus on a core business and shed non-core assets. We have held discussions with shareholders who hold a variety of opinions about the most promising core business.

(g) eRaider would like to eliminate the supervoting preferred stock and golden parachutes. All of the above shareholders support these efforts.

(h) None.

(i) None.
