Item 2.05 Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities.

Worthington Industries, Inc. (the "Company") announced on October 23, 2008, that it will reduce its workforce by nearly 300 through a combination of plant closings and layoffs. Plant closures will occur at the Louisville, Kentucky steel processing facility and the Renton, Washington metal framing facility. The Louisville facility employs 50 people and is expected to close by May 31, 2009. The Renton facility employs 22 people and is expected to be closed by December 31, 2008. The steel processing business segment will also reduce its workforce by an additional 60 seasonal and temporary employees, and the metal framing business segment will lay off an additional 150 employees across its organization.

These actions are a continuation of a broad-based cost cutting and transformational effort the Company began a year ago. The Company expects that these actions will result in annual savings of approximately $13 million, with one-time expenses of approximately $6 million of which approximately $3 million is non-cash. The $6 million is comprised of approximately $3 million for asset write-downs and approximately $2 million for severance benefits with the balance for shut down costs, facility repairs and lease termination costs.

This Current Report on Form 8-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 ("the Act"). Statements by the Company, related to expected savings, future restructuring expenses and other statements which are not historical information, constitute "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Act. All forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties which could cause actual results to differ from those projected. Any number of factors that could cause actual results to differ materially including, without limitation: the effect of national, regional and worldwide economic conditions generally and within major product markets, including a prolonged or substantial economic downturn; product demand and pricing; changes in product mix, product substitution and market acceptance of the company's products; fluctuations in pricing, quality or availability of raw materials (particularly steel), supplies, transportation, utilities and other items required by operations; effects of facility closures and the consolidation of operations; the effect of consolidation and other changes within the steel, automotive, construction and related industries; failure to maintain appropriate levels of inventories; the ability to realize targeted expense reductions such as head count reductions, facility closures and other expense reductions; the ability to realize other cost savings and operational efficiencies and improvements on a timely basis; the overall success of, and the ability to integrate, newly-acquired businesses and achieve synergies therefrom; capacity levels and efficiencies within facilities and within the industry as a whole; financial difficulties (including bankruptcy filings) of customers, suppliers, joint venture partners and others with whom the company does business; the effect of disruption in business of suppliers, customers, facilities and shipping operations due to adverse weather, casualty events, equipment breakdowns, acts of war or terrorist activities or other causes; changes in customer inventories, spending patterns, product choices, and supplier choices; risks associated with doing business internationally, including economic, political and social instability, and foreign currency exposure; the ability to improve and maintain processes and business practices to keep pace with the economic, competitive and technological environment; adverse claims experience with respect to workers compensation, product recalls or liability, casualty events or other matters; deviation of actual results from estimates and/or assumptions used by the company in the application of its significant accounting policies; level of imports and import prices in the company's markets; the impact of judicial rulings and governmental regulations, both in the United States and abroad; and other risks described from time to time in the company's filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.
