Item 12. Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

On October 29, 2003, Aviall, Inc. (the Company) issued the following press release (the Press Release) announcing its financial results for the quarter ended September 30, 2003.

The Press Release contains non-GAAP financial measures as defined in Item 10 of Regulation S-K of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act). In the Press Release, the Company has provided reconciliations of the non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable financial measures calculated and presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) in the United States.

The Press Release includes pro forma earnings per share for the third quarter of 2003 and the nine months ended September 30, 2003. The pro forma earnings per share information has been prepared assuming the following events were consummated prior to January 1, 2002: (i) the sale of $200 million of 7 5/8% Senior Notes due 2011 (the New Notes) and the related discharge of Aviall Services 14% Senior Notes due 2007 (the Old Notes) and reduction of the outstanding balance on Aviall Services revolving credit facility (the Debt Discharge) and (ii) the lowering of the conversion price of the Company's Series D Senior Convertible Participating Preferred Stock (the Series D Preferred Stock) and the subsequent conversion of all of the outstanding shares of Series D Preferred Stock into 11,100,878 shares of the Company's common stock (the Conversion Event). The pro forma earnings per share calculation excludes the effect of (i) the previously reported quarterly payment-in-kind dividends on the Series D Preferred Stock, (ii) the noncash deemed dividend resulting from the issuance of the Series D Preferred Stock, (iii) the noncash charges related to the Debt Discharge and the Conversion Event, and (iv) all adjustments required by the two-class method of reporting earnings per share that the Company has used since December 2001. In addition, the pro forma earnings per share calculation includes an after-tax adjustment to reflect the lower interest expense of the pro forma interest expense on the Company's New Notes as compared to the Old Notes. Management believes that the pro forma earnings per share presentation is beneficial to investors to provide information on how these consummated transactions would have affected the Company's historical financial statements had they occurred at an earlier date.

The information in this Form 8-K shall not be deemed filed for purposes of Section 18 of the Exchange Act, and is not incorporated by reference into any filing of the Company, whether made before or after the date hereof, regardless of any general incorporation language in such filing.

AVIALL REPORTS THIRD QUARTER RESULTS

DALLAS, TEXAS October 29, 2003 Aviall, Inc. [NYSE: AVL] today reported its financial results for the third quarter of 2003.

Highlights:

Net sales grew 12% year-over-year from $222 million in Q3 2002 to $249 million in Q3 2003.

Total selling and administrative (S&A) expenses in the third quarter of 2003 fell as a percent of sales to 10.0% from 10.4% in the third quarter of 2002.

Third quarter 2003 operating income increased $0.4 million to $16.5 million a 3% increase year-over-year primarily driven by a continued increase in lower-margin military sales.

Interest expense was lower on a quarter-over-quarter basis due to the refinancing accomplished in June 2003, and the effective tax rate declined to 30.7% due to an increase in the estimated benefit from extraterritorial income (ETI) exclusion.

Net cash provided by operating activities for the third quarter amounted to $46.9 million.

Aviall Services announced a new 10-year, $500 million contract to expand its current product line aftermarket representation relationship with Honeywell Lighting and Electronics (formerly known as Grimes).

ILS was recognized by Forbes magazine as a Best of the B2B Web for the fourth consecutive year.

Third Quarter Results

Third quarter 2003 net sales rose $27.4 million to $249.4 million, or 12%, over last year's level of $222.0 million. The net sales growth in the third quarter was primarily driven by Aviall Services' stronger Rolls-Royce T56 military engine product sales. In addition, both airline and general aviation product sales showed positive year-over-year sales increases and thus contributed to the positive growth. At ILS, third quarter net sales of $7.0 million were up $0.1 million year-over-year, continuing a trend of successive year-over-year quarterly net sales gains for this global electronic marketplace.

Aviall's gross profit for the third quarter of 2003 grew $2.4 million year-over-year to $41.5 million. However, gross profit as a percentage of net sales was lower due to a higher proportion of lower-margin T56 military engine product sales in the quarter. Selling and administrative (S&A) expenses increased $1.9 million year-over-year to $25.0 million or 10.0% of net sales in the third quarter of 2003—an increase in S&A expense for the third quarter of 2003 equal to 7.1% of the year-over-year net sales increase. More specifically, of the total third quarter S&A increase, corporate S&A accounted for $1.1 million, primarily from the higher legal and professional fees resulting from changes to our capital structure and Sarbanes-Oxley implementation costs. As a result, operating income margin was 6.6% for the third quarter of 2003 versus 7.2% for the third quarter of 2002.

Interest expense declined to $4.9 million in the third quarter of 2003 principally as a result of the issuance of new senior notes, the redemption of old senior notes and the paydown of the outstanding balance under our revolving credit facility, all of which were completed in June 2003. The effective tax rate fell to under 30% for the quarter due to an increase in the estimated tax benefit for 2002 and 2003 of our extraterritorial income (ETI) exclusion, which lowered our 2003 third quarter tax expense. Diluted earnings per share was $0.25 for the third quarter of 2003, as compared to $0.22 in 2002.

Debt outstanding at September 30, 2003 was $209 million as compared with $221 million at December 31, 2002, and the cash balance at the end of the third quarter of 2003 was $31 million, versus $5 million at December 31, 2002. The difference is primarily attributable to improved working capital efficiencies and profitability driven by higher sales. Net cash provided by operations in the third quarter of 2003 amounted to $46.9 million while net cash used for investing activities was $9.8 million for the third quarter of 2003.

Review and Outlook

The Company recorded another solid quarter while continuing to add momentum for the future, said Paul E. Fulchino, Aviall's chairman, president and chief executive officer. The ongoing strength of our Rolls-Royce T56 product line and our ability to generate growth, albeit modest, in the general aviation and airline markets, continue to give us encouragement for the future. In addition, despite the challenges facing the commercial airline marketplace, our ILS business was able to grow net sales year-over-year for the sixth consecutive quarter.

Fulchino continued, The most important news this quarter is our latest award, a 10-year key product line fulfillment contract from Honeywell Electronics and Lighting Group (formerly Grimes Lighting), that is expected to generate approximately $500 million of net sales over its 10-year term. This contract award shows that our value proposition continues to be viewed positively by the companies with which we work. It is evident that they appreciate the benefits Aviall brings to them.

(M O R E)

Fulchino closed by saying, Aviall's performance for the first nine months of 2003 remains in-line with our expectations despite greater-than-anticipated softness in some marketplaces. Our strong positive cash flow generation for the third quarter and for the year-to-date period gives a glimpse of the potential that Aviall can achieve even without taking into account future growth opportunities. However, with the new Honeywell contract, we have taken another important step forward and are now poised to take on additional opportunities with OEMs while also continuing to further refine and improve our quality of services to new and existing customers and suppliers. Our ability to leverage our scale, reach and technology has created unique advantages for us and improved supply-chain values for our customers.

The above table reflects the reconciliation of our net earnings for the three- and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2003 and 2002 to our net earnings on a pro forma basis assuming the following events were consummated prior to January 1, 2002: (i) the sale of $200 million of 7 5/8% Senior Notes due 2011 (the New Notes) and the related discharge on Aviall Services 14% Senior Notes due 2007 (the Old Notes) and reduction of the outstanding balance on Aviall Services revolving credit facility (the Debt Discharge) and (ii) the lowering of the conversion price of our Series D Senior Convertible Participating Preferred Stock (the Series D Preferred Stock) and the subsequent conversion of all of the outstanding shares of Series D Preferred Stock into 11,100,878 shares of our common stock (the Conversion Event). In addition, the pro forma earnings per share calculation includes an after-tax adjustment to reflect the lower interest expense of the pro forma interest expense on our New Notes as compared to the Old Notes. Management believes this pro forma presentation is beneficial to investors to provide information on how these consummated transactions would have affected the historical financial statements had they occurred at an earlier date.
