Item 5. Other Events and Regulation FD Disclosure.

National Institutes of Health Grant

The upcoming press release of Life Sciences, Inc. (Life Sciences or LSI) regarding the March 19, 2004 grant by the National Institutes of Health to LSI of a Small Business Innovative Research (SBIR) grant is attached to this Form 8-K as Exhibit 99.01. The SBIR grant is slightly more than $240,000 in the first year, and could be expanded to slightly less than $500,000 in the second year. See Exhibit 99.01, which is incorporated herein by this reference.

China-Based Joint Venture

The lawsuit filed in the Foshan (China) Intermediate People's Court in September 2003 by Vamed Medical Instrument Co. Ltd. (Vamed) against Foshan Life Sciences Co., Ltd. (FLSC or the Joint Venture), as reported in LSI's Form 8-K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on March 5, 2004 with a cover date of April 8, 2003 (the March 2004 Form 8-K), has been withdrawn according to information received by Life Sciences on March 26, 2004. Vamed filed an application with the Court for permission to withdraw the suit, and the Court granted a judgment to that effect by an order dated March 5, 2004.

LSI holds a 51% equity interest in the Joint Venture, and Vamed and Beijing Erda Organism Technology Co., Ltd. (Erda) hold 20% and 29% interests, respectively.

Efforts on the part of Life Sciences to resolve the various disputes referred to in the March 2004 Form 8-K between and among the participants in the Joint Venture have not produced any beneficial results. During the past two months, the state of affairs appears in fact to have worsened:

Assets of FLSC exceeding $1,000,000 at December 31, 2003, much of which was liquid, have been dissipated or misapplied, including for seemingly personal uses;

Edgar Filing: LIFE SCIENCES INC - Form 8-K

Tangible and intangible assets, including inventory items and know-how related to the manufacture of external counter pulsation medical devices (designated ECP) used to administer cardiac therapy, have been removed from the Joint Venture s premises and/or are being used for personal purposes or in competition with FLSC; and

Notice has been given to Vamed and to Erda that civil proceedings against them will soon be commenced, and that an investigation is in process to determine the application of Chinese criminal law to their apparent diversion of corporate assets.

In early April 2004, Life Sciences requested the direct intervention of the Bureau of Foreign Trade and Economic Cooperation in Foshan to effect the shut down of FLSC's operations, the recovery of its assets, and its orderly liquidation. No response to this request has been received by Life Sciences.

Although Foshan-based management of FLSC has continued to deny any access to LSI and its accountants to recent financial information regarding the Joint Venture, demand has recently been made on the Chinese accountants for FLSC for the audited financial statements of the Joint Venture, or for unaudited statement to the extent audited information does not exist. Insufficient time has elapsed since this request was made for any response, and the degree of cooperation to be expected is unknown.

The ultimate outcomes of the various matters related to FLSC continues to be highly speculative, but potentially materially adverse. The Board of Directors of LSI does not anticipate the realization of any assets related to FLSC, and understands as indicated in the March 2004 Form 8-K that an unfavorable outcome for Life Sciences could extend beyond the entire loss of its original capital contribution to FLSC of $306,000.
