November 4, 2004

Dear Ibex Shareholder:

The documents accompanying this letter outline IMI International Medical Innovations Inc.'s offer for all of the outstanding common shares of Ibex Technologies Inc.

We believe this offer is attractive to Ibex shareholders for several reasons:

- First, you will receive a substantial premium based on trading prices of Ibex's shares prior to our announcement;
- Second, you will continue to participate in the biotech market but within a larger entity that has a more diversified product portfolio; and
- Finally, we believe that IMI is better equipped to unlock the full value of Ibex's assets.

Our offer represents an opportunity for you to receive either 0.1254 common shares of IMI or $0.42 in cash for each Ibex share. This price represents a 45% premium to the closing trading price of your Ibex shares on November 1, 2004, the day before our announcement, and a 52% premium based on the 50-day weighted average trading price.

Ibex shares have traded at a discount to Ibex's cash value for quite some time, which, in our opinion, has represented a real cost to shareholders. The technology, human and capital resources available to Ibex have not generated the kind of return we believe you could earn by bringing our two companies together. This offer allows you to receive immediate value from your Ibex shares while continuing to participate in the exciting biotechnology sector with IMI.

For those of you unfamiliar with IMI, our company is a world leader in predictive medicine, dedicated to developing rapid, non-invasive tests for the early detection of life-threatening diseases. Our lead cardiovascular product, a test that assesses risk of heart disease by measuring cholesterol accumulation in the skin, has already received approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and is cleared for sale in Canada and Europe. This product, a biomarker, started out as a mere concept that we developed into a viable product and then successfully ushered through clinical trials and the regulatory process. Simply, the IMI team has proven expertise.

Edgar Filing: IBEX TECHNOLOGIES INC - Form CB/A

In addition, IMI is partnered worldwide with McNeil Consumer Healthcare, a Johnson and Johnson company, for the marketing and distribution of this product as well as additional formats, including a consumer test. With McNeil, IMI is poised to generate revenue in 2004, through 2005 and beyond. What does that mean for you as an Ibex shareholder?

If you receive shares of IMI, management of IMI expects you to benefit from:

- A larger, stronger predictive medicine company with resources to expand initiatives and advance its portfolio of products;
- A strong strategic fit of complementary technologies and facilities. For example, Ibex's kallikrein markers used in combination with our GOS-based tests may provide information about cancer risk that neither marker provides on its own;
- Improved utilization of Ibex's facilities, which could possibly be used to produce the reagents used in IMI's assays as well as for processing IMI's cancer tests for clinical trials; and
- Utilization of Ibex's available accumulated government tax credits, which the combined entity will carry forward.

The Canadian biotechnology sector consists of about 400 companies, of which close to 100 are publicly traded. Few of these companies have a commercial product on the market, and most are seeking investor dollars to stay afloat. Investors can afford to be very selective in their participation in the sector. By bringing our two companies together, we believe that we are offering a far more compelling investment opportunity. We expect the offer we are presenting to you to represent a win-win scenario for both companies.

We encourage you to read through the enclosed documents and speak to your financial advisor for advice on our proposal. We believe that Ibex shareholders stand to gain considerably by tendering their shares to this offer.

Sincerely,

/s/ Dr. Brent Norton
