Basic Agreement with respect to Share Transfer [TRANSLATION]

SUMCO Corporation (President: Kenjiro Shigematsu; hereinafter referred to as "SUMCO") and Komatsu Ltd. (President: Masahiro Sakane; hereinafter referred to as "Komatsu") reached a basic agreement concerning SUMCO's Tender Offer for 51% of the outstanding shares of Komatsu Electronic Metals Co., Ltd. (President: Takashi Abe; hereinafter referred to as "KEM"). Komatsu has agreed to accept the Tender Offer. SUMCO and Komatsu executed the Basic Agreement as of today.

In accordance with the Basic Agreement, both SUMCO and Komatsu intend to cooperate and undertake certain procedures, such as due diligence. After such necessary procedures are completed and upon execution of an agreement regarding the Tender Offer, SUMCO will acquire 51% of the common shares issued by KEM through the Tender Offer.

Information concerning the schedule and potential effects of the transaction on our business performance will be promptly released as necessary upon further examination and consultation.

SUMCO's Purpose in Making the Tender Offer

Both SUMCO and KEM are specialized producers of silicon wafers that cover a broad range of business fields such as large diameter 300mm, special small diameter and high precision silicon wafers. At present, both companies are proactively engaging in investment activities in order to increase production capacity and to expand their product lineup. SUMCO intends to acquire 51% of KEM from Komatsu and establish a close relationship through the resulting capital ties.

In the future, the new SUMCO Group, consisting of two pure-play silicon producers holding similar and complementary technology, will commit to greater customer satisfaction by sharing an integrated business strategy. Moreover, the new SUMCO Group will seek to gain customers' trust and establish a firm operating base as a top-class supplier of silicon wafers in deed as well as in name, by realizing multiple synergies including cost reductions in the fields of research and development, technology, production and sales, thereby dramatically improving the range of product lines, and enhancing technical capabilities and the ability to meet customers' demands.

Komatsu's Purpose in Accepting the Tender Offer

Komatsu's core focus is the comprehensive industrial machinery business, such as construction and mining machinery and industrial machinery. With respect to the electronics business, including the silicon wafer business operated by KEM, Komatsu's practice has been to maintain the independent management of such business, and to seek to develop the business based on an alliance with a leading industrial partner.

KEM incorporated a joint venture company (Formosa Komatsu Silicon Corporation) with Taiwan Plastics Group in 1995, which has established a position as a top supplier of 200mm silicon wafers in Taiwan. Employing its dual manufacturing site system, in Japan and Taiwan, KEM has worked to strengthen its business and increase profitability.

KEM believes that it can expect further development of its business by becoming a member of the SUMCO Group through both an acceleration of capital investment in 300mm silicon wafers in Taiwan and synergy effects in the area of technology.

Please refer to the attachment for a summary of the basic agreement between both companies.
