President's Letter
(Unaudited)

Fellow Shareholders:

July 2014

Against a backdrop of data confirming a continuing economic warm-up in the U.S. and a global geopolitical environment that boiled over in Ukraine and Iraq, stocks continued to deliver positive news during the second quarter of 2014. The S&P 500® Index posted 16 record closes during the quarter while the widely-followed Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) did so 11 times. Meanwhile, the technology-focused NASDAQ Composite Index recorded its longest streak of quarterly gains since 2000.

The S&P 500® returned 5.23 percent for the quarter, the DJIA advanced 2.83 percent and the NASDAQ Composite gained 5.31 percent. Returns for all three indices represented a significant improvement over first quarter returns, which were slightly positive for the S&P 500® and NASDAQ Composite but fractionally negative for the DJIA. While the latter edged closer to the 17,000 level during the second quarter, it finally closed above that landmark early in the third quarter (on July 3). The quarter was not without volatility, however, as a very significant spring sell-off in growth-oriented biotechnology, information technology and social networking stocks hit the NASDAQ Composite, including (on April 10) its biggest single-day decline in 2 ½ years, according to The Wall Street Journal.

Heavy fighting in Ukraine and Iraq along with lower level but potentially dangerous confrontations involving China and neighbors Japan and Vietnam unsettled investors during the quarter, but did not drive them out of the equity markets. In addition, with interest rates remaining low, bonds and cash did not offer attractive alternatives to stocks. Instead, investors found the gradual, but steady improvements in the U.S. economy to their liking. The glaring exception was the report that U.S. real gross domestic product (GDP) declined 2.9 percent in the first quarter of 2014 (the original estimate was a decline of 1.0 percent, but this was revised downward by the Department of Commerce on June 25). After rising 2.6 percent in the fourth quarter of 2013, real GDP in 2014's initial quarter reflected a long, severe winter impacting everything from housing starts to shipping to consumer spending as well as lower spending by state and local governments.

Offsetting factors to the first quarter's weak economic environment began to emerge as the second quarter progressed. Retail sales firmed, inflation remained muted, the manufacturing and services sectors showed strength, and the employment situation brightened as May was the fourth straight month with job gains above 200,000, meaning that all 8.7 million jobs lost during the great recession had finally been recouped. Underlying all the economic data was the ongoing accommodative stance by the Janet Yellen-led Federal Reserve. While continuing to taper its bond-buying program, the Fed gave no indication that it would raise short-term interest rates anytime soon.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund (the Fund) returns moderately lagged most broad indices over the quarter. The Fund returned 4.44 percent with shares valued at net asset value (NAV) with dividends reinvested and 3.95 percent with shares valued at market price with dividends reinvested. For the trailing 12-month period, the Fund has returned 25.08 percent with shares valued at NAV with dividends reinvested and 23.67 percent with shares valued at market price with dividends reinvested. For the quarter and trailing 12 months, the Lipper Large-Cap Core Mutual Fund Average returned 4.59 percent and 23.54 percent, respectively. For the quarter, the discount at which Fund shares traded relative to their NAV was largely unchanged from the previous quarter, ranging from a low of 10.5 percent to a high of 12.6 percent.

In keeping with policy, the Fund's distribution for the second quarter was $0.10. The Fund's distribution policy has been in place since 1988 and is a major component of the Fund's total return. These distributions add up to $24.47 since 1987 (the Fund's first full calendar year of operations). We would emphasize that shareholders must include these distributions when determining the return on their investment in the Fund.

The stock market showed momentum reminiscent of 2013's strong performance during the second quarter, led by the S&P 500 and the DJIA reaching new all-time highs. While that would seem to indicate a placid market, in fact, there was quite a bit of volatility beneath the surface (which markets experienced once again post-July 4 as the third quarter opened). Coming quarters may or may not settle the continuing debate over whether stocks in general are fairly priced or are overpriced and thus vulnerable to periodic corrections. The Fund's multi-management structure served it well in the second quarter, and we believe it will continue to do so in the future.

Sincerely,

William R. Parmentier, Jr.

* The Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains exceeded the amount to be distributed under the Fund's distribution policy. In each case, the Fund elected to pay taxes on the undistributed income and passed through a proportionate tax credit to shareholders.

 The number of shares offered was increased by an additional 25% to cover a portion of the over-subscription requests.

 Effective with the second quarter distribution, the annual distribution rate was changed from 10 percent to 6 percent.

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

The current policy is to pay distributions on its shares totaling approximately 6 percent of its net asset value per year, payable in four quarterly installments of 1.5% of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. Sources of distributions to shareholders may include ordinary dividends, long-term capital gains and return of capital. The actual amounts and sources of the amounts for tax reporting purposes will depend upon the Fund's investment experience during the remainder of its fiscal year and may be subject to changes based on tax regulations. If a distribution includes anything other than net investment income, the Fund provides a Section 19(a) notice of the best estimate of its distribution sources at that time. These estimates may not match the final tax characterization (for the full year's distributions) contained in shareholders' 1099-DIV forms after the end of the year. If the Fund's ordinary dividends and long-term capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the distribution policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess.

Manager Interview

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

Arnold C. Schneider, III, CFA

President and Chief Executive Officer

Schneider Capital Management Corporation

FUNDAMENTAL RESEARCH KEEPS FINDING UNDERVALUED COMPANIES EVEN AS STOCK MARKET INDICES REACH NEW HIGHS

Schneider Capital Management Corporation practices a disciplined, fundamental approach to add value over time. Research focuses on uncovering new ideas and owning undervalued stocks before they experience a rebound in earnings and come to the attention of other investors. We recently had the opportunity to talk with Arnold Schneider, President and CEO. The Fund's Investment Advisor, ALPS Advisors, Inc., moderated the interview.

In the five years since the stock market recovery began in 1Q 2009, valuations have risen substantially. Has that narrowed the field and made it more challenging to find stocks that are temporarily trading at a substantial discount to their underlying value and future earnings potential?

That's a good question. And the answer is no, certainly not in and of itself. What we are really talking about here are valuation spreads, which have narrowed from that period in early '09. But, that is separate from the level of the market. If every stock went up 100 percent, you would maintain the same valuation gap.

There is some correlation, however, between the level of the market and valuation spreads between industries and companies. A higher market level indicates a higher confidence level and reduced uncertainty. Our belief is that valuation spreads are related to uncertainty. Investors were in a reactive, knee-jerk kind of mentality in 2008 and early '09. And, the market actually went through milder corrective phases in 2010, '11 and '12. The valuation gap was very wide during the financial crisis, but it has narrowed in the current environment. So, there is some correlation between the stock market reaching higher levels and a diminished level of uncertainty. I do believe the field has narrowed, but I don't believe specifically it is related to the higher market in and of itself.

Conversely, could we say that you were probably salivating in that first quarter of 2009 when the market bottomed? Granted, the uncertainty was extremely high, but given that environment, the field would have been very broad.

Yes, the field was very wide. Actually, as we sit here today we still see an above-average level of opportunity, but one that is very narrow. In fact, once you get past the cheapest decile of stocks in the Russell 1000® Value Index, it falls off like a cliff. So, the opportunity is still there, but it has narrowed considerably.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

Manager Interview
(Unaudited)

That leads to the next question: How does Schneider Capital initially identify candidates, or what you call new ideas, for further research and, potentially, for eventual purchase?

We look at this in a whole host of ways. We keep updated valuation tables on literally hundreds and hundreds of companies that we don't own. This is data that we have accumulated and we keep updated to know that our valuation system or the way we look at the world is on track and not reliant on the market's estimation of future earnings. We also keep tabs on each industry to understand where they are in their cycles, and categorize them so that we know if we are at a time period when a specific industry's profitability is at a peak or a trough. We try to look at between five and 10 new ideas a day to keep fresh, and we have a particular focus on corporate restructurings because good ones can be hard to find.

We try to look at between five and 10 new ideas a day just to keep fresh, and we have a particular focus on corporate restructurings because good ones can be hard to find.

I would also say that because we've been implementing the same process and philosophy for 25 years we have probably owned virtually every major value stock over that time. So, having had that experience with so many names, it is easier to come in a second, third or fourth time and understand when to get in.

Do you have specialists focused on certain industries or sectors?

Yes, the analyst team is broken down by industry. And team members have deep experience and expertise in a wide variety of industries.

So, they are constantly bubbling up those new ideas.

Yes. And then, of course, the final thing we do is all sorts of database screening, and constantly looking at 15 to 20 key valuation metrics to double-check in case a name fell between the cracks.

Do you find that, through time, one sector/industry or another seems to present the most candidates for investment owing to specific conditions or the environment within that sector/industry?

I don't believe so. Over a full market cycle of eight to 10 years, opportunities and uncertainties rotate through various industries fairly regularly. Our bottom-up process finds those industries that are in cyclical troughs. Take technology as an example: We would try to get in early in the cycle but then exit later in the cycle before valuations become stretched. Another example is homebuilders. From 2000 to the peak in 2007, we never owned a homebuilder in the portion of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund that we manage. We were adamant. We weren't just lightly invested—we were out and only got back in once valuations were compelling and the industry environment improved. But, as an overall observation, if you look over a full cycle, there are no sectors where we are persistently overweight.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

Following on that question, what guidelines do you follow to be certain that a portfolio such as the portion of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund that you manage remains diversified and not overly concentrated in any one industry or sector?

At any one time, our individual security and sector weights may differ meaningfully from the benchmark.

When we see an industry that is at the bottom of the cycle and is extraordinary cheap but where we also see the cycle improving we will construct a focus portfolio that allows our high conviction ideas to have a meaningful portfolio impact. So, at any one time, our individual security and sector weights may differ meaningfully from the benchmark. That said, we do have limits. For an individual economic sector, we will not exceed the lesser of five times the benchmark weighting or the benchmark weighting plus 20 percentage points.

What are two names in the portion of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund that you manage that exemplify the Schneider Capital Management philosophy of value investing?

The first I would cite is Chesapeake Energy, the second-largest producer of natural gas in the country and the eleventh-largest producer of oil and natural gas liquids in the U.S. Chesapeake is a name that has been in and out of the portfolio over a number of years. We invested a couple of years ago when there was, for us, the beautiful combination of an internal story and an external industry story.

The internal story was a company with a bloated balance sheet that was outspending its cash flows. The company had a strong asset base, but it needed to be managed for shareholder value as opposed to simple asset accumulation. We bought shares once that process was in place, and it continues to this day. Chesapeake is now selling off non-core businesses to de-leverage, holding internal capital spending within the confines of its cash flows, and improving operations and distribution.

The external story was that natural gas prices had collapsed in the wake of the warmest winter in 100 years in 2012, and we bought Chesapeake when gas prices were literally half the price needed to replace supply in the U.S. Natural gas was under $2.00 per thousand cubic feet (MCF), about one-sixth of the worldwide price. So, Chesapeake was very leveraged both operationally and financially to higher natural gas prices, which have come to pass, as the price recently rose to $4.84 per MCF on April 29. So, Chesapeake offered that wonderful combination of an internal and external story.

Good story. How about one other name in the portion of the Liberty All-Star Equity Fund portfolio that you manage?

Everyone knows Marriott, the hotel company. It has 3,900 properties worldwide operated under 18 different brands and reported revenue of $13 billion in its most recent fiscal year. Marriott may seem like a fairly staid company, but this is primarily an industry play that we have owned since January 2012.

Table of Contents

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

Manager Interview
(Unaudited)

We did not invest in the hotel industry right after the financial crisis because there was still supply coming on as a residual of starts that began in the previous cycle when demand was high. After supply waned a few years ago when the industry was still under pressure from economic and market issues we bought Marriott not only as a beneficiary of the upturn in both occupancy and room rates (or RevPAR, an industry term for revenue per available room) but also a very aggressive overseas growth strategy that the company was initiating, primarily in Asia. So, we liked the combination of a cyclical recovery in a depressed industry together with growth prospects and pricing power as occupancy rates continued to grow owing to a lack of supply. The good thing about Marriott a point central to our thesis is that its primary revenue source is urban, full-scale hotels. So, even when the supply cycle catches up, which it inevitably must, it will still take three to five years to build these tall, complex and hard to site hotels. By contrast, suburban, low-rise hotels can be built much quicker. So, the runway for Marriott is pretty long because of the building cycle.

Thank you very much for your insights.

Earnings Per Share: The portion of a company's profit allocated to each outstanding share of common stock. Earnings per share serves as an indicator of a company's profitability.

Sales Per Share: A ratio that computes the total revenue earned per share over a 12-month period. It is calculated by dividing total revenue earned in a fiscal year by the weighted average of shares outstanding for that fiscal year.

Price-Earnings Ratio: A valuation ratio of a company's current share price compared to its per-share earnings.

Price-To-Book Ratio: A ratio used to compare a stock's market value to its book value. It is calculated by dividing the current closing price of the stock by the latest quarter's book value per share.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

NOTE 1. ORGANIZATION

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund (the Fund) is a Massachusetts business trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the Act), as amended, as a diversified, closed-end management investment company.

Investment Goal

The Fund seeks total investment return comprised of long-term capital appreciation and current income through investing primarily in a diversified portfolio of equity securities.

Fund Shares

The Fund may issue an unlimited number of shares of beneficial interest.

NOTE 2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates. The Fund is considered an investment company for financial reporting purposes under GAAP.

Security Valuation

Equity securities, including common stocks and exchange traded funds, are valued at the last sale price at the close of the principal exchange on which they trade, except for securities listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market LLC (NASDAQ) exchange, which are valued at the NASDAQ official closing price. Unlisted securities or listed securities for which there were no sales during the day are valued at the closing bid price on such exchanges or over-the-counter markets.

Short-term debt obligations maturing in more than 60 days for which market quotations are readily available are valued at current market value. Short-term debt obligations maturing within 60 days are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value. Repurchase agreements are valued at cost, which approximates fair value. Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith under consistently applied procedures approved by and under the general supervision of the Fund's Board of Trustees (the Board).

Foreign Securities

The Fund may directly purchase securities of foreign issuers. Investing in securities of foreign issuers involves special risks not typically associated with investing in securities of U.S. issuers. The risks include possible reevaluation of currencies, the inability to repatriate foreign currency, less complete financial information about companies and possible future adverse political and economic developments. Moreover, securities of many foreign issuers and their markets may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than those of securities of comparable U.S. issuers. For the six months ended June 30, 2014, the Fund only held American Depositary Receipts and did not hold any securities denominated in foreign currencies.

Liberty All-Star® Equity Fund

Notes to Financial Statements
June 30, 2014 (Unaudited)Security Transactions

Security transactions are recorded on trade date. Cost is determined and gains/(losses) are based upon the specific identification method for both financial statement and federal income tax purposes.

Repurchase Agreements

The Fund engages in repurchase agreement transactions with institutions that the Fund's investment advisor has determined are creditworthy. The Fund, through its custodian, receives delivery of underlying securities collateralizing a repurchase agreement. Collateral is at least equal, at all times, to the value of the repurchase obligation including interest. A repurchase agreement transaction involves certain risks in the event of default or insolvency of the counterparty. These risks include possible delays or restrictions upon a Fund's ability to dispose of the underlying securities and a possible decline in the value of the underlying securities during the period while the Fund seeks to assert its rights. These collateral agreements mitigate the counterparty credit risk by providing for a single net settlement with a counterparty of all financial transactions covered by the agreement in an event of default as defined under such agreement.

Repurchase agreements are entered into by the Fund under a Master Repurchase Agreement (MRA) which permits the Fund, under certain circumstances, including an event of default (such as bankruptcy or insolvency), to offset payables and/or receivables under the MRA with collateral held and/or posted to the counterparty and create one single net payment due or from the Fund.

At June 30, 2014, the open repurchase agreement with the counterparty State Street Bank & Trust Co., and subject to a MRA on a net payment basis, was as follows:

Description	Gross Amounts of Recognized Assets	Gross Amounts Offset in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities	Net Amounts Presented in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities	Gross Amounts Not Offset in the Statement of Financial Position		Net Amount
				Financial Instruments Collateral Received*	Cash Collateral Received
Repurchase Agreement	$ 35,538,000	$	$ 35,538,000	$ (35,538,000)	$	$
Total	$ 35,538,000	$	$ 35,538,000	$ (35,538,000)	$	$

*These amounts do not include the excess collateral received.

Income Recognition

Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Corporate actions and dividend income are recorded on the ex-date.

The Fund estimates components of distributions from real estate investment trusts (REITs). Distributions received in excess of income are recorded as a reduction of the cost of the related investments. Once the REIT reports annually the tax character of its distributions, the Fund revises its estimates. If the Fund no longer owns the applicable securities, any distributions received in excess of income are recorded as realized gains.

Fair Value Measurements

The Fund discloses the classification of its fair value measurements following a three-tier hierarchy based on the inputs used to measure fair value. Inputs refer broadly to the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk. Inputs may be observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability that are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity. Unobservable inputs reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability that are developed based on the best information available.

Valuation techniques used to value the Fund's investments by major category are as follows:

Equity securities and exchange-traded funds, for which market quotations are readily available, are valued at the last reported sale price or official closing price as reported by a third party pricing vendor on the primary market or exchange on which they are traded and are categorized as Level 1 in the hierarchy. In the event there were no sales during the day or closing prices are not available, securities are valued at the mean of the most recent quoted bid and ask prices on such day and are generally categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy. Repurchase agreements are valued at cost, which approximates fair value, and are categorized as Level 2 in the hierarchy.

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments as of the end of the reporting period. When inputs used fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the level in the hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. The designated input levels are not necessarily an indication of the risk or liquidity associated with these investments.

These inputs are categorized in the following hierarchy under applicable financial accounting standards:

- Level 1 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical investments, unrestricted assets or liabilities that a Fund has the ability to access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 Quoted prices which are not active, quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets or inputs other than quoted prices that are observable (either directly or indirectly) for substantially the full term of the asset or liability; and
- Level 3 Significant unobservable prices or inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments) where there is little or no market activity for the asset or liability at the measurement date.

Notes to Financial Statements
June 30, 2014 (Unaudited)

The following is a summary of the inputs used to value the Fund's investments as of June 30, 2014:

Investments in Securities at Value*	Valuation Inputs			Total
	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Common Stocks	$ 1,180,555,338	$	$	$ 1,180,555,338
Exchange Traded Fund	1,179,289			1,179,289
Short Term Investment		35,538,000		35,538,000
Total	$ 1,181,734,627	$ 35,538,000	$	$ 1,217,272,627

*See Schedule of Investments for industry classifications.

The Fund recognizes transfers between the levels as of the beginning of the annual period in which the transfer occurred. For the six months ended June 30, 2014, the Fund did not have any transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 securities. The Fund did not have any securities which used significant unobservable inputs (Level 3) in determining fair value during the six months ended June 30, 2014.

Distributions to Shareholders

The Fund currently has a policy of paying distributions on its shares of beneficial interest totaling approximately 6% of its net asset value per year. The distributions are payable in four quarterly distributions of 1.5% of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the NYSE on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. Distributions to shareholders are recorded on ex-date.

NOTE 3. FEDERAL TAX INFORMATION AND TAX BASIS INFORMATION

The timing and character of income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. Reclassifications are made to the Fund's capital accounts for permanent tax differences to reflect income and gains available for distribution (or available capital loss carryforwards) under income tax regulations. If, for any calendar year, the total distributions made under the distribution policy exceed the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains, the excess will generally be treated as a non-taxable return of capital, reducing the shareholder's adjusted basis in his or her shares. If the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the distribution policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute net realized capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess. The amounts and characteristics of tax basis distributions and composition of distributable earnings/ (accumulated losses) are finalized at fiscal year-end: accordingly, tax basis balances have not been determined as of June 30, 2014.

Classification of Distributions to Shareholders

Net investment income and net realized gain/(loss) may differ for financial statement and tax purposes. The character of distributions made during the year from net investment income or net realized gains may differ from its ultimate characterization for federal income tax purposes. Also, due to the timing of dividend distributions, the fiscal year in which amounts are distributed may differ from the fiscal year in which the income or realized gain was recorded by the Fund.

For federal income tax purposes, the Fund currently qualifies, and intends to remain qualified, as a regulated investment company under the provisions of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, by distributing substantially all of its investment company taxable net income including realized gain, not offset by capital loss carryforwards, if any, to its shareholders. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise taxes has been made.

As of and during the six months ended June 30, 2014, the Fund did not have a liability for any unrecognized tax benefits. The Fund files U.S. federal, state, and local tax returns as required. NOTE 5. PORTFOLIO INFORMATIONPurchases and Sales of Securities

NOTE 6. CAPITAL TRANSACTIONS

On July 29, 2013, the Fund's Board of Trustees authorized the Fund to conduct a tender offer for up to 7.5% of its outstanding shares of beneficial interest at a price equal to 96% of its net asset value per share as determined on the day of the tender offer expiration of September 23, 2013. Approximately 64,581,723 shares of beneficial interest or approximately 34.2% of the Fund's outstanding shares were properly tendered and not withdrawn. The Fund accepted 14,143,225 shares for payment at a price equal to $5.98 per share, which represented 96% of the Fund's net asset value per share as of September 23, 2013. Because the tender offer was oversubscribed, all tenders of shares were subject to proration in accordance with the terms of the tender offer, including adjustments to avoid purchase of fractional shares. Accordingly, on a pro rata basis, the Fund accepted and purchased approximately 21.9% of the shares properly tendered in the tender offer.

During the six months ended June 30, 2014 and the year ended December 31, 2013, distributions in the amounts of $10,885,567 and $22,735,370, respectively, were paid in newly issued shares valued at market value or net asset value, but not less than 95% of market value. Such distributions resulted in the issuance of 1,859,953 and 4,248,183 shares, respectively.

Under the Fund's Automatic Dividend Reinvestment and Direct Purchase Plan (the Plan), shareholders automatically participate and have all their Fund dividends and distributions reinvested. Under the Plan, all dividends and distributions will be reinvested in additional shares of the Fund. Distributions declared payable in cash will be reinvested for the accounts of participants in the Plan in additional shares purchased by the Plan Agent on the open market at prevailing market prices, subject to certain limitations as described more fully in the Plan. Distributions declared payable in shares are paid to participants in the Plan entirely in newly issued full and fractional shares valued at the lower of market value or net asset value per share on the valuation date for the distribution (but not at a discount of more than 5 percent from market price). Dividends and distributions are subject to taxation, whether received in cash or in shares.

NOTE 7. INDEMNIFICATION

In the normal course of business, the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties and which provide general indemnities. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims against the Fund. Also, under the Fund's organizational documents and by contract, the Trustees and Officers of the Fund are indemnified against certain liabilities that may arise out of their duties to the Fund. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss due to these warranties and indemnities to be minimal.
