Item 4.02 Non-Reliance on Previously Issued Financial Statements or a Related Audit Report or Completed Interim Review.

Pattern Energy Group Inc. (the Company) determined on October 20, 2014, that it had previously made an error in the computation and disclosure of earnings per share for the three and six months ended June 30, 2014, and that, as a result of the error, the financial statements for the three and six months ended June 30, 2014 included in the Company's quarterly report on Form 10-Q filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on August 5, 2014 (the Original Form 10-Q) should no longer be relied upon. The Company's management has discussed the matter with its independent registered public accounting firm, Ernst & Young LLP, and the audit committee of its board of directors and intends to file with the SEC an amendment to the Original Form 10-Q to reflect the restatements.

The initial calculation of earnings per share did not correctly consider the recognition of a beneficial conversion feature of the Class B common stock as a result of the commencement on March 28, 2014 of commercial operations at the Company's South Kent project. The beneficial conversion feature represents the intrinsic value of the conversion feature, which is measured as the difference between the fair value of Class B common stock and the fair value of Class A common stock, into which the Class B common stock is convertible, as of October 2, 2013, which is the date of the Company's initial public offering. The beneficial conversion feature is accreted on a straight-line basis from March 28, 2014 to December 31, 2014.

The corrected earnings per share calculations include a non-cash deemed dividend to the holders of Class B common stock resulting from accretion of the beneficial conversion feature, which reduces the calculated amount of undistributed earnings available to holders of both Class A and Class B common stock. While this calculation represents an application of generally accepted accounting principles, the holders of Class B common stock are not entitled to receive dividends at any time, and are not entitled to any other form of preferred return over the returns available to the holders of Class A common stock, and therefore, the deemed dividend does not represent a current or future distribution of Company earnings.

The Company believes the initial recognition of this beneficial conversion feature and subsequent accretion will not have a net impact to the Consolidated Balance Sheets, Consolidated Statements of Stockholders' (Loss) Equity, or Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows for the periods presented in the Original Form 10-Q, nor an impact on net income (loss) in the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Management has concluded that its disclosure controls and procedures were not effective at the reasonable assurance level as of June 30, 2014. Management has determined that it has a material weakness in internal control over financial reporting comprised of a combination of deficiencies in internal control over the calculation of earnings per share as well as the review and application of technical accounting principles.

On October 24, 2014, the Company issued a press release regarding the matters described above. The press release is filed as Exhibit 99.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and is incorporated by reference into this Item 4.02.
