Thomson Extends Worldwide DVD Replication and Secures Distribution Agreement with Paramount

Technicolor Home Entertainment Services Extends Existing Agreements for U.S. and International Replication and UK Distribution, and Wins New Business for U.S. and Canadian Retail Distribution

Paris and CAMARILLO, Calif. November 30, 2006 Thomson (Euronext Paris: 18453; NYSE: TMS) through its Technicolor Home Entertainment Services business, today announced it has extended its worldwide DVD replication agreements with Paramount Home Entertainment. Territories covered by the agreements are the United States, Canada and all international territories excluding Japan and Russia. In addition, Technicolor's existing distribution services agreement was extended in the United Kingdom and Technicolor was awarded new business to provide retail distribution and returns processing services in the United States and Canada. These new multi-year agreements include DVD replication and distribution services for all Paramount titles.

As the world's leading manufacturer and distributor of DVDs, we are exceptionally pleased to be continuing and expanding our support for Paramount both in North America and International territories, said Quentin Lilly, president of Technicolor Home Entertainment Services. With the industry's most comprehensive portfolio of mastering, replication, printing, custom packaging, anti-piracy, technology development and supply chain management services for standard definition and next-generation formats, we remain uniquely positioned to fully support the critical needs of Paramount in the global home entertainment market.

Paramount Home Entertainment is responsible for the worldwide sales, marketing and distribution of a vast array of home video titles for prestigious, internationally-recognized labels including Paramount Pictures, Paramount Vantage, MTV, CBS, Nickelodeon, Comedy Central, DreamWorks SKG, DreamWorks Animation, PBS, PBS Kids, Hasbro, Peanuts and Spike TV. Recent releases include Failure to Launch, M:I:III, Nacho Libre and DreamWorks Animation's Over the Hedge.

Technicolor has demonstrated to us that it has the capabilities of meeting and exceeding the myriad demands of today's home entertainment marketplace, said Kelley Avery, President, Worldwide Home Entertainment, Paramount Pictures. We have been very pleased with the company's service and look forward to expanding our partnership as we continue to develop and grow our business worldwide.

In addition to its worldwide DVD replication capabilities, Technicolor Home Entertainment Services is the leading provider of turnkey fulfillment and distribution services for DVD and CD projects. Backed by a proven track record, the company delivers high-quality, cost-effective distribution and fulfillment services, and manages all facets of retail distribution. In addition, Technicolor has the world's most extensive returns operation in North America with its facility in Memphis, Tennessee. Currently, the facility offers the industry-leading capability to process more than one-half million units per day.

PRESS RELEASE

Wal-Mart and PRN, a Thomson business, announce rollout of the in-store media network of the future

Wal-Mart and PRN s Launch Of IPTV Network At Retail Provides Unprecedented Targeting Capability.

More than 400 Marketers and Advertisers Attend The Wal-Mart 2007 Summit.

PARIS and SAN FRANCISCO October 16, 2006 Wal-Mart Stores (NYSE: WMT) and Premier Retail Networks (PRN), a wholly owned subsidiary of Thomson SA (Euronext: 18453) (NYSE: TMS) introduced the in-store media network of the future at Wal-Mart Network Annual Summit on October 9, 2006 in Bentonville, AR. More than 400 leading marketers and advertisers were in attendance.

The launch of the IPTV network at retail enables Wal-Mart to deliver a targeted, media experience to shoppers. Wal-Mart announced that the new systems with IP technology offer content flexibility and a technology platform they will build upon in 2007 and the years ahead.

The new network which will consist of over 100,000 flat panel screens, delivers product messaging tailored to key departments and customer segments on eye level plasma screens. Endcap display channels will demonstrate the benefits of the products carried on specific endcaps.

The results of our extensive pilot research prove that targeting relevant programming to strategically important departments moves the needle on both brand awareness and sales while improving the shopper experience. For that reason we are committed to making the network of the future the network of today. --Mike Hiatt, Director Internal Media Networks, Wal-Mart Stores.

In-store media is becoming mainstream. The Wal-Mart Network is a powerful tool available to marketers to address the critical last ten yards or what P&G calls the First Moment of Truth. Wal-Mart continues to offer the most expansive, most robust and most effective in-store network in retailing. We are totally committed to making it an even more powerful tool for all of us. Stephen Quinn, SVP Marketing, Wal-Mart Stores.

84% of America shops in our stores. The store is our number one media channel. The network of the future will allow us to take full advantage of it. John Fleming, Chief Marketing Officer, Wal-Mart Stores.

PRESS RELEASE

Thomson sells its European Audio/Video & Accessories activities to Oristano Holding

Paris, October 17, 2006 Thomson (Euronext 18453 ; NYSE : TMS) today announced the signature of a definitive agreement to sell its European Audio/Vidéo & Accessories (AVA) activities to Swiss group Oristano. AVA Europe is the consumer electronics activity of Thomson in Europe, present in more than 20 European countries. The agreement was signed yesterday in Paris by the two groups.

The sale of AVA Europe is in line with Thomson's strategy to focus on providing technologies, services and equipment to the Media & Entertainment industries.

AVA Europe provides retailers with a wide range of audio & video products (DVD-REC including Hard Drive Discs, home theatre systems, mp3 players), accessories (hook-ups, headphones, remote controls, video senders), as well as GPS.

AVA Europe has strong market positions in Europe and long-standing relationships with key retailers, such as Auchan, Carrefour, Casino, Kesa, Media and Metro.

AVA Europe will develop synergies with Oristano's activities in telecom terminals and using IP for the home, and bring a paneuropean dimension to the combined business. AVA Europe products will continue to be commercialised under the Thomson and Skymaster brands. This transaction should be effective by year's end.

PRESS RELEASE

Thomson secures agreement with TCL on the resolution of the TTE situation in Europe

Paris, October 31, 2006 Thomson (Euronext Paris: 18453, NYSE TMS) has reached an agreement with TCL Multimedia, which is listed on the Hong-Kong Stock Exchange and is the parent company of TTE, in order to both facilitate TTE's evolution in Europe and to secure a continuation of activities at Thomson's factory in Angers, in addition to resolving certain issues Thomson had with the existing contractual framework.

TCL Multimedia Group has announced plans for a significant restructuring in Europe which should enable it to re-launch in the coming months TV activities under a largely reshaped business model.

Against this backdrop, Thomson has found an agreement with TCL Group in order to amend the terms of certain existing agreements and to resolve various outstanding financial matters. This agreement focuses particularly on questions related to the license to use the Thomson brand in respect of televisions, which will now cease at end of 2008 for most of Europe, and to enabling activity to continue at Thomson's Angers factory.

Whichever business model is chosen for its activity in Europe, TCL Group is committed to maintaining the specified order level at the Angers factory until end of 2008. This level will lead to a step-up in Thomson's plans for conversion and diversification of the site.

Certain statements in this press release, including any discussion of management expectations for future periods, constitute "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the "safe harbor" of the U.S. Private Securities

Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such forward-looking statements are based on management's current expectations and beliefs and are subject to a number of factors and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from the future results expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements due to changes in global economic and business conditions, consumer electronics markets, and regulatory factors.
