CORNING, N.Y. Corning Incorporated (NYSE:GLW) today announced its results for the third quarter of 2009, as well as its expectations for the remainder of the year.

Third-Quarter Highlights

Sales were $1.5 billion, up 6% sequentially.

Earnings per share were $0.41. Excluding special items, EPS was $0.42*, a sequential gain of 8%.

Display Technologies combined glass volume, including Corning's wholly owned business and Samsung Corning Precision Glass Co., Ltd. (SCP), increased 4% over a very strong second quarter. Volume in the company's wholly owned business was consistent with the second quarter, while SCP's volume increased 7%. Glass pricing was comparable to the previous quarter.

The company's gross margin for the quarter was 41%.

Equity earnings were $418 million, an increase of 16% over last quarter, and an all-time record for Corning.

Corning completed the acquisition of Axygen Bioscience, Inc. for approximately $410 million.

Corning Announces Third-Quarter Results

Page Two

The improvement we have seen over the past two quarters has increased our optimism for the fourth quarter, Wendell P. Weeks, chairman and chief executive officer, said. Retail sales for LCD televisions remained strong throughout the third quarter, and we believe this will continue into the fourth quarter, which is typically the heaviest retail buying period. This demand has allowed the global LCD supply chain to maintain appropriate inventory levels, he said.

Third-Quarter Segment Results

Sales in the Display Technologies segment were $679 million and slightly higher than the second quarter. Third-quarter sales were impacted by an earthquake in Japan that affected production at the company's LCD facility in Shizuoka in August. Display sales were positively impacted by foreign exchange rate movements in the quarter.

In the third quarter, Corning began volume shipments of Gen 10 glass substrates from its newest LCD glass manufacturing plant in Sakai City, Japan. Corning is the first manufacturer of TFT-grade Gen 10 substrates in the world.

Telecommunications segment sales were $450 million, an increase of 3% over the previous quarter. The segment saw continued strength in optical fiber sales in China, as well as strong demand for private network products in North America. The growth rate was impacted by a slowing of fiber-to-the-home demand in North America.

Environmental Technologies segment sales were $167 million, an increase of 27% sequentially, driven primarily by automotive product sales increases in the United States, China, and Germany. Corning said the improved automotive product demand was likely the result of governmental incentives within these regions, including the now-ended U.S. cash for clunkers program, and diminished global inventory levels. The company also experienced strong demand for its heavy-duty diesel products due to manufacturers purchasing product ahead of new 2010 U.S. emissions regulations.

Specialty Materials segment sales were $90 million, a 27% increase over quarter two. The sales increase was due in part to the continued ramp up in demand for Gorilla glass used in notebooks and portable electronic devices. Corning's Gorilla glass is now used by 12 major brands and designed into more than 45 devices.

Life Science segment sales were $92 million, compared to $81 million in the second quarter. Third-quarter sales included $7 million from Axygen Bioscience, Inc., which was recently acquired by Corning. Axygen's product portfolio and established distribution network will significantly strengthen Corning's life sciences platform.

Corning's equity earnings were $418 million and significantly higher than second-quarter equity earnings of $361 million. Equity earnings from Dow Corning Corporation were $92 million, an increase of 59% over the second quarter. Equity earnings from Samsung Corning Precision were $316 million, an increase of 7% sequentially.

Looking Forward Quarter Four

Although a portion of our glass production at the Taichung facility has been impacted by a power disruption, we remain confident that the strong performance in our display business over the last two quarters will continue in the fourth quarter of this year, James B. Flaws, vice chairman and chief financial officer, said. At the same time, we expect to see normal seasonal declines in our Telecommunications and Environmental Technologies businesses. He added that Corning expects equity earnings at Dow Corning to be higher compared to last quarter.

Corning expects glass volume in its wholly owned display business to be flat to down slightly sequentially this quarter. At SCP, glass volume is expected to be consistent quarter to quarter. The company also anticipates glass pricing at both its wholly owned business and SCP to be consistent with the third quarter. Flaws noted that without the temporary loss of glass production from Taichung, Corning had expected a quarter-over-quarter volume increase of approximately 5%.

In our Display segment, global retailers are expected to offer attractive pricing for LCD televisions, which is likely to result in continuing robust demand through the fourth quarter. This retail demand, along with our expectation that panel manufacturers may lower utilization rates later this quarter, should allow the industry to maintain healthy inventory levels and alleviate any over-supply concerns, Flaws said.

The company anticipates its Telecommunications segment sales to be down 15%, due primarily to seasonally lower demand in North America. The company believes demand in China will remain strong.

Environmental Technologies segment sales are expected to be down between 10% and 15% sequentially, reflecting normal seasonal declines plus the expected drop in demand following the end of the U.S. incentive program.

Specialty Materials segment sales are expected to be similar to the third quarter or down 5% and Life Sciences segment sales are expected to be up 25%, driven by the Axygen acquisition.

Early Look at 2010

The company anticipates that worldwide unit sales of LCD televisions next year could reach 156 million, a 20% increase over 2009. Additionally, computer notebook sales are forecasted to grow by about 20%, while desktop monitor sales are expected to increase about 4% for the year. If these retail forecasts are correct and glass supply chain inventories remain manageable, as we expect, then next year could see very robust gains in worldwide glass volume, Flaws said.

This demand is expected to result in a worldwide glass market of at least 2.7 billion square feet in 2010, an annual increase of approximately 15%. We believe the amount of glass capacity that is currently being restarted by the industry is in line to meet these end market demand expectations, Flaws remarked.

Corning Announces Third-Quarter Results

Page Four

The company stated glass demand will likely vary quarter to quarter next year. We believe panel makers may respond to the seasonal decline in demand by reducing utilization rates in the first quarter. As a result, we would also expect first-quarter glass demand to be sequentially lower. Looking ahead to the second quarter, we would expect utilization rates at the panel makers to snap back as the supply chain expands to meet the seasonally stronger second half. In this environment, we would expect second-quarter glass demand to also increase significantly, Flaws said.

Upcoming Investor Sessions

Corning will be hosting an investor luncheon in Toronto on Thursday, Nov. 5 and presenting at an investor luncheon in New York on Thursday, Dec. 3. The company also will present at the Barclay's Technology Conference in San Francisco on Wednesday, Dec. 9.

The access code is 117492. The webcast will be archived for one year following the call.

Presentation of Information in this News Release

Non-GAAP financial measures are not in accordance with, or an alternative to, GAAP. Corning's non-GAAP net income and EPS measures exclude restructuring, impairment and other charges and adjustments to prior estimates for such charges. Additionally, the company's non-GAAP measures exclude adjustments to asbestos settlement reserves, gains and losses arising from debt retirements, charges or credits arising from adjustments to the valuation allowance against deferred tax assets, equity method charges resulting from impairments of equity method investments or restructuring, impairment or other charges taken by equity method companies and gains from discontinued operations. The company believes presenting non-GAAP net income and EPS measures is helpful to analyze financial performance without the impact of unusual items that may obscure trends in the company's underlying performance. Reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures can be found on the company's Web site by going to www.corning.com/investor\_relations and clicking Financial Reports on the left. Reconciliation also accompanies this news release.

- (1) Depreciation expense for Corning's reportable segments includes an allocation of depreciation of corporate property not specifically identifiable to a segment.
- (2) Research, development, and engineering expense includes direct project spending which is identifiable to a segment.
- (3) Effective January 1, 2009, we began providing U.S. income tax expense (or benefit) on U.S. earnings (losses) due to the change in our conclusion about the realizability of our U.S. deferred tax assets in 2008. As a result of the change in our tax position, we adjusted the allocation of taxes to our operating segments in 2009 to reflect this difference.
- (4) Many of Corning's administrative and staff functions are performed on a centralized basis. Where practicable, Corning charges these expenses to segments based upon the extent to which each business uses a centralized function. Other staff functions, such as corporate finance, human resources and legal are allocated to segments, primarily as a percentage of sales. In the nine months ended September 30, 2008, net income of the Display Technologies segment included a $12 million litigation settlement charge. In the three and nine months ended September 30, 2008, net loss of the All Other segment included a $14 million loss on the sale of Corning's Steuben glass business.

- (1) Net financing costs include interest income, interest expense, and interest costs and investment gains associated with benefit plans.
- (2) Includes the equity earnings of Dow Corning Corporation. In the nine months ended September 30, 2009, equity earnings of affiliated companies, net of impairments includes a charge of $29 million representing restructuring charges at Dow Corning Corporation. In the three and nine months ended September 30, 2008, equity earnings of affiliated companies, net of impairments includes a charge of $18 million representing an other-than-temporary impairment of auction rate securities at Dow Corning.
- (3) In the three and nine months ended September 30, 2009, Corning recorded charges of $6 million and $15 million, respectively, to adjust the asbestos liability for the change in value of certain components of the Amended PCC Plan and the estimated liability for non-PCC asbestos claims. In the three and nine months ended September 30, 2008, Corning recorded charges of $6 million and $15 million, respectively, to adjust the asbestos liability for the change in value of certain components of the Amended PCC Plan and the estimated liability for non-PCC asbestos claims. In the first quarter of 2008, Corning reduced its liability for asbestos litigation by $327 million as a result of the increase in the likelihood of a settlement under recently proposed terms and a corresponding decrease in the likelihood of a settlement under terms established in 2003.
- (4) In the three and nine months ended September 30, 2009, other corporate items included $12 million ($8 million after-tax) and $80 million ($52 million after-tax) of restructuring charges, respectively. In the three months ended September 30, 2008, Corning released an additional $70 million of valuation allowance on our U.S. deferred tax assets as a result of a change in our estimate regarding 2008 U.S. taxable income. Also, in the three months ended September 30, 2008, Corning recorded a $43 million gain related to a favorable tax settlement with the Canadian Revenue Agency. In the three and nine months ended September 30, 2008, Corning recorded net losses of $39 million on short-term investments. In the nine months ended September 30, 2008, Corning recorded a $2.4 billion tax benefit from the release of a valuation allowance on U.S. tax benefits due to sustained profitability and positive future earnings projections for U.S. entities.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(Unaudited)

1. Restructuring

In the third quarter of 2009, we recorded a charge of $10 million ($7 million after-tax) which was comprised of severance costs for a restructuring plan in the Environmental Technologies segment and asset disposal costs in other segments.

2. Asbestos Litigation

On March 28, 2003, Corning announced that it had reached agreement with the representatives of asbestos claimants for the settlement of all current and future asbestos claims against Corning and Pittsburgh Corning Corporation (PCC) which might arise from PCC products or operations (the 2003 Plan). On December 21, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court issued an order denying confirmation of the 2003 Plan. On January 10, 2008, some of the parties in the proceeding advised the Bankruptcy Court that they had made substantial progress on an amended plan of reorganization (the Amended PCC Plan) that resolved issues raised by the Court in denying the confirmation of the 2003 Plan.

As a result of progress in the parties' continuing negotiations, Corning believes the Amended PCC Plan now represents the most probable outcome of this matter and the probability that the 2003 plan will become effective has diminished. The proposed settlement under the Amended PCC Plan requires Corning to contribute its equity interest in PCC and Pittsburgh Corning Europe, N.V. (PCE) and to contribute a fixed series of cash payments recorded at present value. Corning will have the option to contribute shares rather than cash, but the liability is fixed by dollar value and not number of shares. As a result, the estimated asbestos litigation liability is no longer impacted by movements in the value of Corning common stock. The Amended PCC Plan does not include non-PCC asbestos claims that may be or have been raised against Corning. Corning has recorded an additional amount for such claims in its estimated asbestos litigation liability.

In the third quarter of 2009, we recorded charges of $6 million ($4 million after-tax) to adjust the asbestos litigation liability for the change in value of the components of the Amended PCC Plan.
