ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

At the annual meeting, our shareholders will elect three directors to hold office until our annual meeting held in 2006. The Nominating Committee of our board of directors has recommended, and our board has nominated, Michael R. Houser, Bruce J. Olson and Walter G. Winding, each of whom currently serves as a shareholder-elected director, as the three directors to hold office until our annual meeting in 2006. Walter G. Winding and Elwood F. Winn, as proxies, intend to vote for the election of all of our nominees. They will also vote for another person that our Nominating Committee may recommend and our board may nominate in the event that a nominee becomes unable to serve as a director before the annual meeting.

Under Wisconsin law, shareholders elect directors by a plurality of the votes cast. This means that the nominees receiving the largest number of votes, even if less than a majority, will be elected as directors. Any shares that are not voted, whether by abstention, broker non-vote or otherwise, will not affect the election of directors.

Our board of directors recommends a vote for Michael R. Houser, Bruce J. Olson and Walter G. Winding.

The tables set forth below list certain information about our board of directors and the board committees on which our directors serve, as well as how many times the board and each committee met in 2002. AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

Our management is responsible for the company's financial reporting process, including its system of internal controls and disclosure controls and procedures, and for the preparation of the company's consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. The company's independent auditors are responsible for auditing those financial statements. Our responsibility is to oversee, monitor and review these processes. It is not our duty or our responsibility to conduct auditing or accounting reviews or procedures. We are neither employees of the company nor auditors by profession. Therefore, we have relied, without independent verification, on management's representations, including those in the certifications of the financial statements that have been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, that the company's financial statements have been prepared with integrity and objectivity and in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. We have also relied on the representations of the company's independent auditors included in its reports. Our discussions with management and the company's independent auditors do not ensure that the company's financial statements are presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, that the audit of the company's financial statements has been carried out in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards or that the company's independent auditors are in fact "independent."

As noted in our report included in the company's April 2002 proxy statement, although early in 2002 our Board of Directors initially decided to retain Arthur Andersen as the company's independent auditors for 2002, it also authorized management to explore the retention of another auditing firm if and when our Board decided that such action was in the best interests of the company and its shareholders. In June 2002, our Board, upon a recommendation made by us, dismissed Arthur Andersen as our independent auditors and selected KPMG LLP as our independent auditors for 2002.

In July 2002, management identified an inadvertent bookkeeping error related to a unique supply relationship the company has with one of its vendors that resulted in the understatement of the company's cost of goods sold between 1997 and the date that the error was discovered. After discovering this error, the company immediately began a thorough investigation of the cause and extent of the understatements. Upon determination of the cause and extent, the company corrected the mistake. The company also carefully examined all of its other vendor relationships to ensure that no other similar understatements have occurred. As a result of this comprehensive review, management has represented to us that it does not believe that there are any other similar understatements reflected in the company's financial statements. After discussions among the Audit Committee, management and KPMG, management and the Audit Committee determined that the company needed to restate its earnings for 2001, 2000, and 1999 to correct this accounting error. The aggregate after-tax impact to earnings for the three years that were restated, taken together, was $357,000, or $145,000 in 2001 ($.03 per share), $90,000 in 2000 ($.02 per share) and $122,000 in 1999 ($.02 per share). In addition, the company restated its 2001 cost of products sold to include labor costs related to its deli and bakery manufacturing operation which were previously included in selling and administrative expenses. Further, the company identified several errors which originated in periods prior to fiscal year 1997. The errors resulted in understatements of accounts receivable and accrued income taxes by $85,000 and $326,000, respectively. Additionally, other errors resulted in overstatements of inventory, accounts payable and accrued insurance by $414,000, $688,000 and $485,000, respectively. An adjustment to increase retained earnings in 1996 by $518,000 was recorded to reflect the correction of these errors.

Our Audit Committee reviewed and discussed the company's 2002 audited financial statements and KPMG's reports on the company's financial statements with KPMG and the company's management. In connection with this review and discussion, our Audit Committee separately discussed with the company's management and independent auditors the quality and adequacy of the company's internal controls and disclosure controls and procedures.

We also discussed with KPMG all communications required by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61 (SAS 61), as amended by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 90. These statements require independent auditors to communicate to audit committees matters related to the conduct of the audit, including: (a) independent auditors' responsibility under auditing standards generally accepted in the United States; (b) changes in or new significant accounting policies and transactions; (c) management judgments and accounting estimates; (d) quality of accounting principles; (e) uncorrected financial statement misstatements; (f) other information in documents containing audited financial statements; (g) disagreements with management; (h) consultation with other accountants; (i) major issues discussed with management prior to retention; (j) difficulties encountered in performing the audit; (k) confirmation of audit independence; and (l) fees from non-audit services. KPMG reported to us that, based on its audit procedures, it believed that the company's internal controls are adequate and sufficient.

We also received a written report and a letter from KPMG disclosing all relationships between the company and KPMG. KPMG's letter advised us that, in 2002, it provided $130,000 of audit services related to the audit of the company's 2002 financial statements and an additional $195,000 of audit services related to the re-audits summarized above. KPMG also notified us that it provided $14,000 of other audit related services to the company in 2002 comprised of $11,000 related to benefit plan audits with the remainder relating to tax services provided in connection with the financial statement audit. KPMG further advised us that it provided no financial information systems design and implementation support to the company in 2002. KPMG discussed its letter with us and advised us that it did not believe its audit was impaired by its provision of non-audit related services, particularly in view of the relationship of the related fees to its annual revenues. As a result, KPMG confirmed that, as of February 24, 2003, it was an independent accountant with respect to the company within the meaning of the Securities Act administered by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the requirements of the Independence Standards Board. We considered whether KPMG's provision of non-audit services was compatible with maintaining its independence with respect to the company. Based on our discussions with management and KPMG, as well as our review of the representations of management and KPMG's reports, we recommended to the Board of Directors that the company's audited consolidated financial statements at and for the year ending December 28, 2002 be included in the company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for its fiscal year ended December 28, 2002 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We also reappointed KPMG as the company's independent auditors for 2003.

Mr. Barth, a former member and Chairman of the Audit Committee, is a member of a law firm that provides ongoing services to the company. Mr. Barth meets the Nasdaq definition of "independence" that is generally applicable to directors. He does not, however, meet the new, heightened Nasdaq and Sarbanes-Oxley Act "independence" rules applicable to audit committee members. As a result, Mr. Barth resigned from official membership on the Audit Committee, although he still serves as an ex officio member of the Audit Committee.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Our Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors evaluates and establishes the compensation of our executive officers. Our executive compensation program is designed to:

- o attract, retain and motivate key officers;
- o encourage a focus on strategic objectives which will result in superior current and long-term financial performance;
- o compensate officers above median market levels when financial performance is superior and below median market levels when financial performance is below the targeted levels;
- o link long-term incentives to increasing shareholder value; and

Edgar Filing: FRESH BRANDS INC - Form DEF 14A

- o allow consideration of the positive or negative effects of extraordinary events on financial performance.

Our executive compensation package consists of four principal components: base salary, annual incentive bonus eligibility, annual stock option grants, and other complementary compensation and employee benefits. We structure each individual component of the company's executive compensation - as well as the company's entire executive compensation package - in a manner that closely aligns the economic interests of our management with the economic interests of our shareholders. We do this by making a substantial part of the company's executive compensation package dependent upon the company's achievement of specific annual corporate financial performance objectives, and by tying our executives' long-term compensation potential to future increases in the company's stock price. We are firm believers in performance-based compensation and we believe that this philosophy is best implemented by establishing combined annual salary and bonus levels at amounts designed to be above relative median market compensation levels when the company's financial performance meets or exceeds our targeted objectives, and below median market compensation levels when the company's financial performance does not meet our targets. Additionally, by making stock option grants the principal long-term component of our executive compensation package, we believe we've directly linked our executives' realization of benefits from these option grants to future increases in the intrinsic value of our company. At least conceptually, we believe that shareholder value should be driven principally by the company achieving its targeted financial performance goals.

Although the company had record sales and earnings per share in 2002, it did not meet its financial performance goals. As a result, (i) only one of our executive officers received an increase in his 2003 salary; (ii) except for a longevity bonus required by an employment agreement with the president of our Dick's Supermarkets subsidiary, none of our executive officers received bonuses for 2002; and (iii) unlike previous years, we did not make any discretionary contributions to our Fresh Brands Distributing retirement savings plans or our executive benefit restoration plan for 2002. In addition, in December 2002, we amended our Fresh Brands Distributing retirement savings plan and our executive benefit restoration plan to eliminate all mandatory contributions (other than contributions related to the company's 401(k) plan "matching" contributions). We believe these changes will allow us to further align the economic interests of our management with the economic interests of our shareholders by allowing us to more closely link contributions to these plans to the company achieving its annual financial performance objectives.

Salary

Base salary is the largest portion of the cash compensation package received by each of our executives. After extensive analysis and consideration, and consistent with our executive compensation philosophy, we have set each executive's salary at or below the midpoint of the salary range paid to similarly situated executives at comparable companies. We decided that, by establishing annual base salaries at these relatively low levels, if the company does not achieve its targeted annual financial goals, then our executives will receive below market level cash compensation because they will not receive the vast majority of their eligible bonus. The salary of one of our executive officers, Robert Brodbeck, is governed by an employment agreement we entered into in connection with our June 2001 Dick's Supermarkets acquisition (see "Executive Compensation-Employment and Consulting Agreements" below). This agreement significantly reduced Mr. Brodbeck's base salary from the level he received prior to our acquisition, but included additional payments in 2002 provided he remained employed by us through certain target dates.

We based the salary of Elwood F. Winn, our President and Chief Executive Officer, on the foregoing factors along with Mr. Winn's experience in our industry and his performance as our President and Chief Executive Officer. In 2002, Mr. Winn's second year as our President and Chief Executive Officer, he received a salary increase. However, as noted above, because our company did not achieve its financial performance targets last year, neither Mr. Winn nor, with one exception, any other executive officers received an increase in their salaries in 2003.

Annual Bonus

Each of our executive officers is eligible to receive an annual cash bonus equal to a preestablished percentage of his base salary. These eligibility percentages range from 20% to 50% of the executive's base salary. Because we believe that the amount of annual bonuses should be directly linked to the company's achievement of its annual financial performance targets (which, in turn, we believe should fundamentally translate into increased shareholder value), 80% of each executive's potential bonus eligibility is dependent upon whether the company meets or exceeds our preestablished annual earnings per share before tax goal for that year. Generally, this portion of each executive's potential bonus will not be paid unless the company's earnings per share before tax target is met or exceeded. However, we may decide to pay some or all of this eligible bonus amount if we determine that the company's earnings per share before tax target was not met as a result of extraordinary or unusual circumstances beyond the company's control. Additionally, if the company substantially exceeds its earnings per share before tax target, we may decide to increase the amount of bonuses paid to some or all of our executives. The remaining potential 20% of each executive's bonus eligibility is dependent upon whether other specific predetermined individual and company goals and objectives are met by the executive, as well as other subjective factors that we believe are appropriate.

In 2002, the company had record sales and earnings per share in 2002, but did not meet its preestablished annual earnings per share before tax goal. As a result, no executive officer earned the 80% of their potential bonus based on achieving that target. Similarly, because the company did not meet its 2002 earnings per share before tax goals, Mr. Winn recommended, and we agreed, that none of our executive officers should receive any portion of their bonus based on the achievement of other individual and company goals and objectives. As a result, the only bonus received by our executive officers for 2002 was the contractual longevity bonuses paid to Mr. Brodbeck pursuant to his employment agreement. Similarly, for these same reasons, Mr. Winn did not receive a 2002 bonus.

Long-Term Incentives - Stock Options

Our Stock Option Committee, which includes all of the members of our Compensation Committee except Steven R. Barth and Walter G. Winding, annually grants stock options to our executives under our 1995 equity incentive plan. We use stock option grants to supplement the annual cash portion of our executive compensation package and to provide the long-term incentive compensation element of our executive compensation package. Since the value of stock options is inherently dependent upon the future market price appreciation of the company's common stock, stock options will only provide our executive officers with economic value to the extent that the market price of the company's common stock increases. Thus, we believe that these stock option grants help further align the economic interests of our executive officers with those of our shareholders. We have historically granted options at 100% of the fair market value of the company's common stock on the date of grant, with a term not to exceed ten years and with vesting in increments of one-third on each of the first, second and third anniversaries of the grant date. Beginning with our stock options granted in 2003, shares acquired by the exercise of a stock option grant cannot be sold for one year unless the executive has reached the age of 60 prior to exercising the option.

Although not determinative, each executive officer's relative salary serves as a base guideline for the number of shares subject to his annual option grant. We also concentrate the relative size of option grants on the officers who we believe will have the greatest impact upon the company's future financial performance. In addition, we carefully analyze the total number of shares made subject to stock options granted each year to ensure that the goals of the 1995 equity incentive plan are realized without unnecessarily diluting our current shareholders. Finally, when determining the relative size of each officer's stock option grant, our Stock Option Committee had broad discretion to consider a variety of other factors, including the factors listed below that influence the options that are granted, as well as other subjective factors.

Our Stock Option Committee based its 2002 stock option grants principally on (i) relative position at the company; (ii) increases (if any) in duties and responsibilities; (iii) existing and anticipated ability to directly impact corporate performance; (iv) relative level of cash compensation; (v) seniority; (vi) prior levels of stock option grants; (vii) options then currently held; (viii) direct stock ownership; and (ix) the company's 2002 financial performance. Each executive officer's individual initiatives and achievements over the prior year also affected the level of each officer's option grant.

We believe that our 1995 equity incentive plan has been adopted, and is being administered, in accordance with the requirements of Internal Revenue Code Section 162(m). Given the levels of compensation and benefits provided currently to our executive officers, we do not otherwise believe it is necessary to further conform or adjust our compensation policies, plans or practices to comply with the $1 million executive compensation deductibility cap imposed by Internal Revenue Code Section 162(m).

Other Compensation

The Fresh Brands Distributing retirement savings plan is a qualified profit sharing plan that provides for supplemental income at retirement for all eligible salaried employees of Fresh Brands Distributing, Inc., one of our wholly-owned subsidiaries. The retirement benefits provided by the retirement savings plan for each participant are based upon the value of the participant's account balance at retirement. In 2002 and previous years, the retirement savings plan required us to make an annual basic contribution which, when added to forfeitures for the year, was equal to 5% of the participant's salary for the year and allowed us to make an additional discretionary contribution as determined by our Board. Basic contributions to each participant's account are allocated on the basis of the participant's eligible compensation compared to the compensation of all participants for such year. Discretionary contributions are allocated in the same way, except that contributions to Social Security benefits are taken into account in the allocation of discretionary contributions. Although the company had record sales and earnings per share in 2002, it did not meet its financial performance goals. As a result, no additional discretionary contributions were made to the plan for 2002. In addition, in December 2002, we amended the Fresh Brands Distributing retirement savings plan to eliminate the mandatory 5% contribution, a change that will take effect in 2003. The retirement savings plan permits pretax employee contributions pursuant to Internal Revenue Code Section 401(k). We provide a 25% matching contribution on pretax employee contributions up to 4% of pay. At the end of 2002, our executive officers named below, as a group, beneficially held 51,703 shares, or approximately 1% of our total outstanding common stock on the record date, in their accounts under the retirement savings plan. See "Stock Ownership of Management and Others."

The Dick's Supermarket retirement savings plan is a plan that provides benefits to all eligible employees of Dick's Supermarkets, Inc., one of our wholly-owned subsidiaries. The retirement savings plan permits pretax employee contributions pursuant to Internal Revenue Code Section 401(k). We provide a 50% matching contribution on pretax employee contributions up to 3% of pay. In addition, the retirement savings plan allows us to make additional discretionary contributions. In 2002, we made a discretionary contribution equal to 1% of each participant's salary for the year.

We also maintain an executive benefit restoration plan, which is a supplemental benefit pension plan intended to provide benefits otherwise denied to participants under the Fresh Brands

Distributing retirement savings plan by reason of limitations imposed by the Internal Revenue Code. The executive benefit restoration plan provides mandatory benefit accruals on pay in excess of the amount able to be recognized by a participant under the retirement savings plan for the year. In December 2002, in connection with the amendments to the Fresh Bands Distributing retirement savings plan summarized above, we made conforming changes to the executive benefit restoration plan, eliminating all mandatory contributions.

Stock Options

We have two stock option plans currently in place: our 1995 equity incentive plan and our 2001 nonemployee director stock option plan. Our 1995 plan allows us to make grants to our executive officers and other employees and our 2001 plan provides for annual automatic grants of options to our directors who are not our employees. The following table lists the option grants under the 1995 plan that we made during 2002, as well as certain other information relating to those grants.

Edgar Filing: FRESH BRANDS INC - Form DEF 14A

Option Grants In 2002

Name	Shares Underlying Options Granted(1)	Percentage of Total Options Granted to All Employees in 2002(2)	Exercise Price (Per Share) (3)	Expiration D
-----	-----	-----	-----	-----
Elwood F. Winn	38,000	25.50%	$18.75	January 30, 2
Michael R. Houser	35,000	23.49%	$18.75	January 30, 2
William K. Jacobson	15,000	10.07%	$18.75	January 30, 2
Robert J. Brodbeck	8,000	5.37%	$18.75	January 30, 2
Thomas J. Timler	8,000	5.37%	$18.75	January 30, 2
All Officers(2)	112,000	69.80%
Non-Officer Employees	37,000	30.20%

- The options reflected in the table are nonqualified stock options under the Internal Revenue exception of the options granted to certain of our directors under our 2001 nonemployee director stock option plan which were granted on December 28, 2002, all options granted during 2002 were granted on January 30, 2002. The exercise price of each option granted during 2002 was equal to 100% of the fair market value of the common stock on the date of grant, as determined by our Stock Option Committee. These options become exercisable one-third on each of the first, second and third anniversaries of the grant date; provided, however, that the options may be exercised more than ten years after the date of grant. These options are subject to the terms and conditions of the stock option agreements. Under the stock option agreements, upon a "change of control" (as defined in such stock option agreements), all options granted become immediately exercisable in full for the remainder of their term and each optionee will be required, within a period of 30 days, to require us to purchase his outstanding options for cash at an aggregate price equal to the fair market value for all shares of common stock then subject to such options, provided that at least six months have elapsed since the grant date.
- All calculations exclude the options granted under our 2001 nonemployee director stock option plan to officers of our subsidiaries.
- The exercise price of options may be paid in cash, by delivering previously issued shares of common stock, or a combination thereof.
- The option values presented are based on the Black-Scholes pricing model, adapted for use in the valuation of options. The actual value, if any, that an optionee may realize upon exercise will depend on the excess appreciation of our common stock over the option exercise price on the date the option is exercised. Therefore, the actual value realized by an optionee upon the exercise of an option will be at or near the value of the option under the Black-Scholes model. The estimated values under the Black-Scholes model are based on the following assumptions as to variables such as interest rates, stock price volatility and future dividends: (a) an assumed United States Treasury bond rate of 5.02%; (b) stock price volatility based on the 36-month stock price history ending January 31, 2002; and (c) a current dividend yield of 2.0%.

Set forth below is certain information about the cash values realized by the listed officers who exercised stock options during 2002 and the number and value of unexercised stock options held by named executive officers as of the end of fiscal 2002.

1. Reflects the difference between the fair market value of the underlying shares of common stock at the time of exercise and the exercise price of the options exercised.
2. Reflects the difference between the fair market value of the underlying shares of common stock at the end of fiscal 2002 and the various applicable exercise prices of the officers' outstanding options. The data reflect any options that had an exercise price in excess of the fair market value of the underlying shares at the end of fiscal 2002. The fair market value at the end of fiscal 2002 was $15.03, the closing price on December 27, 2002, the last trading day of our fiscal year.
3. On February 14, 2003, Mr. Jacobson retired. As a result, pursuant to the terms of his option agreement, his options became exercisable on February 14, 2003. In March 2003, Mr. Jacobson exercised options and received 25,500 shares of common stock and realized $65,980.

Director Compensation

Our directors who are also employees or who work for entities that perform professional services for us receive no additional compensation for serving on our board or its committees. In 2002, our qualifying outside directors, other than our Chairman of the Board, received:

- o an annual cash retainer of $12,000;
- o $1,000 for each board meeting attended and $500 for each committee meeting attended that was not held in conjunction with a board meeting;
- o an annual 5,000 share stock option grant on the last day of our fiscal year; and
- o an annual grant of the number of our shares valued at $6,000 (taking into account a 10% discount for the applicable restrictions on transfer of such shares under the securities laws).

In addition, in 2002 the chairmen of our audit and compensation committees received additional annual cash retainers of $4,000 and the chairmen of our other board committees receive annual cash retainers of $2,000. Beginning in January 2003, the additional annual cash retainer of our audit committee chairman was increased to $12,000.

In 2002, Walter Winding, our Chairman of the Board, who is a non-employee director, received:

- o an annual cash retainer of $37,000;
- o $1,000 for each board meeting attended and $500 for each committee meeting attended that was not held in conjunction with a board meeting;
- o an annual 5,000 share stock option grant on the last day of our fiscal year;

- o an annual grant of the number of our shares valued at $6,000 (taking into account a 10% discount for restrictions on transfer of such shares under the securities laws); and
- o approximately $72,400, which reflects per hour compensation for services performed as our Chairman of the Board on behalf of our board and us through April 2002 and a flat $6,000 monthly fee for such services for the remainder of 2002 (see "Certain Transactions" below for more information).

In addition, our Chairman of the Board may participate in our various health and medical plans if he pays all premiums for such plans. Beginning in May 2002, our Chairman of the Board and President and Chief Executive Officer agreed to change our Chairman of the Board's compensation for services performed on behalf of our board and us from compensation paid on a per hour basis to a flat $6,000 monthly fee. Our Compensation Committee formally eliminated our Chairman of the Board's per hour compensation effective as of January 2003 and increased his annual cash retainer to $60,000.

Employment and Consulting Agreements

On June 16, 2001, in connection with our acquisition of Dick's Supermarkets, we entered into a one-year employment agreement with Robert J. Brodbeck, one of the former owners of Dick's Supermarkets. Pursuant to this agreement, Mr. Brodbeck agreed to serve as the President of Dick's Supermarkets for a salary of $150,000 and we agreed to pay longevity bonuses of $15,000 and $25,000 on December 15, 2001 and June 15, 2002, respectively. We also agreed to provide health insurance to Mr. Brodbeck until the third anniversary of his termination, with the first 18 months of such insurance to be paid for by us, and the remaining 18 months to be paid for by Mr. Brodbeck. The agreement prohibits Mr. Brodbeck from competing with us or soliciting any of our employees for a period of two years after the termination of his employment with us. On June 5, 2002, we extended the term of this employment agreement until June 21, 2003 and added additional longevity bonuses of $20,000 and $25,000 payable on December 31, 2002 and June 21, 2003, respectively.

On October 7, 2002, in connection with William K. Jacobson's February 14, 2003 retirement, we entered into a consulting agreement with Mr. Jacobson pursuant to which he agreed to provide us with consulting services through December 31, 2004. Specifically, Mr. Jacobson agreed to provide up to 500 hours of consulting services during 2003 and up to an additional 500 hours of consulting services during 2004. In exchange, we agreed to pay Mr. Jacobson $7,500 per month beginning in March 2003 through December 2003 and $6,250 per month in 2004. If Mr. Jacobson provides more consulting services than required by this agreement, we will pay him $125 for each additional hour of services provided. We also agreed to provide, until December 31, 2005, health insurance to Mr. Jacobson and his family on terms similar to those offered to our employees (i.e., Mr. Jacobson will pay all "employee contribution" portions of such insurance and we will pay all other amounts). Subject to certain narrow exceptions, the agreement prohibits Mr. Jacobson from competing with us or soliciting any of our employees through December 31, 2005.

Change of Control Arrangements

We have change of control agreements with each of Walter G. Winding, Elwood F. Winn, Michael R. Houser, S. Patric Plumley and Thomas J. Timler. Each of these agreements provides that, following a "change of control" of us (as defined in the agreements), such officer will be employed in the same position performing equivalent duties at the same location as immediately prior to the change of control for a length of time set forth in the agreement (three years in the case of Messrs. Winding, Winn and Houser and two years in the case of Messrs. Plumley and Timler). During the employment period, each such officer would be entitled to receive a salary (or, in the case of Mr. Winding, all Chairman of the Board fees) equal to his annual compensation rate in effect at the date of the change of control (subject to increase by the Compensation Committee) and inclusion in benefit plans available to employees of comparable status.

If, at any time during the employment period, the officer's employment is terminated other than for "cause" (as defined in the agreements) or for the officer's disability, or if the officer's duties are changed substantially without his written consent, and the officer terminates his employment as a result, the officer would be entitled to receive:

- o a lump sum payment equal to (a) the sum of (i) the officer's annual base salary at the time of the change of control and (ii) the greater of his most recent annual bonus or the average of his three most recent bonuses at the time of the change of control multiplied by (b) the number of years set forth in the employment agreement (three in the case of Messrs. Winding, Winn and Houser and two in the case of Messrs. Plumley and Timler);
- o the actuarially determined present value of the benefit accruals that would have been made through the end of the employment period under our retirement plans applicable to the officer; and
- o along with his eligible dependents, coverage under medical benefit plans through the end of the employment period or, in the case of Messrs. Winding, Winn and Houser, until the later of the end of the employment period or the officer's sixty-fifth birthday.

The severance agreements with Messrs. Winding, Winn and Houser also provide that if, at any time during the employment period, such executive is terminated due to disability, he will be entitled to receive these payments and benefits. Further, the severance agreements with Messrs. Winding, Winn and Houser provide that if, during the sixty day period beginning one year after a change of control occurs, such executive officer elects to terminate his employment with us for any reason, he will be entitled to receive these payments and benefits.

The payments under these severance agreements may be subject to certain adverse tax consequences that (i) impose on executives an excise tax on total severance payments (which includes the value of certain non-cash benefits) received by them and (ii) limits our ability to deduct such payments for tax purposes. The severance agreements with Messrs. Winding, Winn and Houser provide for cash payments to compensate them for the excise tax payments they would incur as a result of receiving payments under their agreements. The agreements with Messrs. Plumley and Timler limit the cash payment to an amount that ensures that these tax consequences do not apply.

Additionally, upon a "change of control:"

- o stock options granted to our executive officers will become fully exercisable; and
- o the optionee will have the right to require us to purchase his outstanding options for cash at an aggregate "acceleration price" for all shares of common stock subject to such options.

Compensation Committee and Stock Option Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

Steven R. Barth, a member of our Compensation Committee, is a partner in the law firm of Foley & Lardner. Foley & Lardner has provided legal services to us for over 40 years. As described in "Certain Transactions" below in 2002, Walter G. Winding, our nonemployee Chairman of the Board and a member of our Compensation Committee, provided services on behalf of our board and us in his capacity as Chairman of the Board, for which he was paid an hourly fee of $200 through April 2002 and, beginning in May 2002, a flat $6,000 monthly fee for the remainder of 2002. Under our bylaws, the Chairman of the Board is an officer.

MISCELLANEOUS

We expect that the election of directors will be the only matter that will be presented for shareholder consideration at the annual meeting. Other matters may properly come before the annual meeting and the proxies named in the accompanying proxy will vote on them in accordance with their best judgment.

We will bear the cost of soliciting proxies, including reimbursing brokers and other nominees for their reasonable expenses in communicating with the persons for whom they hold common stock. We expect to solicit proxies mainly by mail. Some of our employees may also solicit proxies personally and by telephone. We do not anticipate that we will retain anyone to solicit proxies or that we will pay compensation to anyone for that purpose. We will, however, reimburse brokers and other nominees for their reasonable expenses in communicating with the persons for whom they hold common stock.

If you would like to receive a copy of our 2002 annual report on Form 10-K - without exhibits - please write to S. Patric Plumley, our Secretary, at 2215 Union Avenue, Sheboygan, Wisconsin 53081, and we will provide you with a copy free of charge.

If you wish to include a proposal in our proxy statement for the 2004 annual meeting pursuant to Rule 14a-8 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, you should forward your proposal to our Secretary by December 14, 2003. If you submit a proposal after this date, your proposal will be considered untimely under our bylaws and we will not be required to present your proposal at the 2004 annual meeting. If the board chooses to present your proposal despite its untimeliness, the people named in the proxies solicited by the board of directors for the 2004 annual meeting will have the right to exercise discretionary voting power with respect to your proposal.

Sincerely,
FRESH BRANDS, INC.
