Attunity Announces Support for Microsoft "Jupiter" Adapter Framework

Monday June 2, 12:00 pm ET

Attunity Adapters to Legacy Systems Are Now Available for BizTalk Server 2004 Beta Prospects

WAKEFIELD, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--June 2, 2003-- Attunity Ltd. (NASDAQ: ATTU - News), a leading provider of standards-based integration middleware for accessing mainframe, enterprise data sources and legacy applications, today announced its commitment to support Microsoft BizTalk Server 2004, the foundation of Microsoft's Jupiter vision, and provide its comprehensive adapter suite for the BizTalk Server user community. The Attunity Adapters for BizTalk Server 2004 are now available at <http://www.attunity.com/biztalk2004>.

"The Attunity adapters are a valuable offering for BizTalk Server 2004 customers since enterprises often need to leverage existing legacy systems for new IT initiatives," said Sanjay Manchanda, group product manager for E-Business Servers at Microsoft Corp. "In order to build a connected and agile business, customers need to be able to quickly tie together legacy systems and current applications. The combination of Attunity adapters and Microsoft BizTalk Server helps customers achieve that goal. Microsoft is pleased that Attunity supports our 'Jupiter' vision and is providing this offering for customers."

The Attunity Adapter Suite for BizTalk Server 2004 allows enterprises to integrate with mainframe, enterprise data sources and legacy applications. The suite includes a comprehensive prebuilt adapter library, support for interfaces including ADO, XML and SOAP, as well as plug-ins for BizTalk Server that look and feel like a natural extension, increasing user productivity and ease of use.

"As a result of the close technical collaboration with Microsoft, Attunity is proud to be one of the vendors to introduce adapters during the upcoming beta distribution of BizTalk Server 2004," said Dan Potter, vice president of marketing at Attunity. "As the 'Jupiter' incorporates integration, content management and commerce capabilities into a unified platform, there is a tremendous need for best-of-breed connectivity provided by Attunity."

BizTalk Server 2004 is the third major release of the product and is the foundation of Microsoft's "Jupiter" vision, which brings together the existing E-Business Servers (BizTalk Server, Content Management Server and Commerce Server) into a more unified environment. "Jupiter" investments include improved experiences for developers and information workers through integration with Visual Studio .NET and Office, integrated security, deployment, management and monitoring across the technologies, and improved web services support for interoperability in the enterprise.
