ANALYSIS OF RESULTS:

"Our financial and operational performance this quarter is a direct result of our strategy to position Merge eFilm as a leader in RIS, PACS and RIS/PACS software and professional services for our target market - imaging centers, small to medium sized hospitals and specialty clinics," said Richard A. Linden, President and CEO. "Second quarter highlights include: exceptional performance by our North American Direct Sales and Services division which delivered record year-over-year growth; accelerated product innovation in collaboration with our customers that resulted in new releases of FUSION (Trademark) RIS, PACS, RIS/PACS and OEM products; and recognition of our products' quality by objective third party certification organizations. These accomplishments, the trends towards paperless and filmless workflow within our target market, our products' alignment with those trends and the execution of a national distribution agreement in July 2004 with SourceOne Healthcare Technologies form the foundation for reaffirming our 2004 guidance.

"The combined reputations of Merge, eFilm and RIS Logic, the value proposition of our RIS/PACS solutions, our financial strength and our alignment with our target market have all contributed to an exceptional win loss ratio this year against our competitors. We successfully closed 20 new FUSION RIS, PACS and RIS/PACS contracts during the second quarter, growing our total number of FUSION solution customers to 160, representing over 320 healthcare facilities.

Our partnership with SourceOne Healthcare Technologies represents advancement in our strategy to rapidly expand our ability to cover the North American healthcare market. SourceOne brings to the partnership over 120 sales professionals, increasing our market coverage capabilities tenfold. The new distribution agreement is in addition to our strong and growing Direct Sales strategy, which when combined provides Merge eFilm with comprehensive coverage of our target market. SourceOne understands the customer's analog and digital workflow, along with the ultimate goal of filmless and paperless operations. With the combined strengths of both organizations, this partnership provides our target market and SourceOne's customers with the radiology workflow expertise to deliver a solution aligned with the customers' current needs, along with a future growth plan toward seamless digital workflow.

Our OEM and International channel continued to experience challenges achieving their financial goals, however, we are encouraged by progress with key OEM customers and our European VARs. A new software product line customized for a leading OEM in Europe generated improved revenues in the second quarter. Additionally, several European VARs purchased FUSION PACS components and software modules for their customers. These signs of improved performance and new leadership of our OEM and International team give us encouragement that the OEM channel will produce improved results in the second half of 2004.

Edgar Filing: MERGE TECHNOLOGIES INC - Form 8-K

"I am particularly proud of our Product Innovation team that delivered several new FUSION software product releases in the second quarter. Their quality-driven efforts delivered new versions of our RIS, PACS and RIS/PACS solutions, adding voice recognition, enhanced web capabilities and document scanning to our workflow solutions. In addition, they produced updates to our connectivity solutions and generated new customized PACS component solutions for our historical OEM customers representing future strength in the OEM/VAR channel. Finally, we are committed to strengthening our relationship with our customers, and expect up to 400 individuals to attend our Annual User Group Meeting to be held in October, which reflects our commitment to customer-driven RIS/PACS solutions.

"We continue to focus on quality in all areas of our business. In the second quarter, we were granted two quality system ISO certificates by Underwriters Laboratories for the design, development and servicing of medical imaging, storage and distribution devices and diagnostic software. We also initiated a formal review of our products and services by two outside healthcare technology evaluation organizations, ECRI and KLAS. Each is an independent research organization that reviews healthcare products and services from the customers' perspectives. These initiatives reflect Merge eFilm's commitment to product quality and the importance of customer satisfaction.

"In summary, I am pleased with the market's positive reception to our FUSION RIS/PACS solutions, our ability to expand the market coverage of our direct sales strategies via our SourceOne partnership, and the deepening relationships we are forming with our customers. We continue to gain market share at a pace greater than our competition and consistent with our profitable growth guidance. Our ability to optimize the market's demand for RIS/PACS solutions, the alignment of our FUSION software products and services with customer preferences, our continued commitment to strategic initiatives that accelerate our growth in current or future target markets, and our commitment to quality products and services, will drive the success of our business model going forward," said Linden.

GUIDANCE:

The Company anticipates market conditions to remain supportive of its approach to an integrated RIS/PACS software product and associated professional services. Our strong financial and operational results to date, combined with recent product releases and the new national distribution agreement with SourceOne, positions the Company to reaffirm its full year 2004 guidance with revenues growing 30% to 35% year over year to a range of $37.5 to $39.5 million. The Company expects pre-tax operating margins of 28% to 31%, resulting in fully diluted EPS of $0.47 to $0.52, which incorporates an increase in the effective tax rate from 10% in 2003 to the 38% to 40% range in 2004. The Company's 2004 guidance represents a 50% increase in pre-tax earnings over the comparable 2003 pre-tax earnings.
