Pro Forma Adjustments

1 Interest expense

Consequential reduction in interest expense from repayment of short-term debt calculated using a 3.06 percent annual interest rate.

2 Income per share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing net profits by the weighted average number of shares in issue using the two class method of computation.

3 Diluted income per share

The diluted income per share is calculated by dividing net profits by the weighted average diluted number of shares in issue using the two class method of computation. The effect of the diluted income per share for the year ended December 31, 2008 is anti-dilutive and therefore the diluted earnings per share are the same as the basic earnings per share.

4 Weighted average diluted number of shares

The calculation of diluted earnings per share did not take into account the effect of 872,373 shares issuable on share awards at December 31, 2008 as the effect of this was anti-dilutive. At June 30, 2009, the effect of 907,306 shares issuable on share awards was included in the calculation of diluted earnings per share.

5 Profit on the Boddington Disposition

The profit on the Boddington Disposition is calculated as follows:

	US$ Millions
Total proceeds from the Boddington Disposition	1,154
Total net assets related to the Boddington Disposition	(1,050)
Profit on the Boddington Disposition	104

Proceeds include a cash payment of US$750 million, discounted deferred payment of US$230 million as well as capital and working capital reimbursements of US$174 million.

The profit on the Boddington Disposition in June 2009 was $104m (before tax of $25m); compared to an estimated profit of $251m (before tax of $61m) in December 2008. The actual profit for June 2009 is lower than 2008, mainly due to translation, additional costs and a higher carrying value for Boddington at June 2009, resulting in a lower profit as well as a lower tax charge when compared to December 2008.

6 Taxation

Taxation includes US$25 million relating to the Boddington Disposition.
