SUNTRUST PROPOSES AMENDMENT TO WACHOVIA BYLAWS TO PERMIT
SHAREHOLDERS TO CALL SPECIAL MEETING

Atlanta, GA - SunTrust Banks, Inc. (NYSE:STI) announced today that it has proposed an amendment to Wachovia Corporation's (NYSE:WB) bylaws to be voted on August 3 at Wachovia's annual shareholders meeting.

SunTrust said the proposed bylaw amendment would permit the holders of 10% or more of Wachovia's outstanding shares to require Wachovia to call a special meeting of shareholders. SunTrust said that if Wachovia shareholders approve the bylaw amendment and do not approve the proposed First Union merger at the annual meeting on August 3, then upon receipt of necessary regulatory approvals, if Wachovia does not negotiate with SunTrust, SunTrust would seek to call a special meeting of Wachovia shareholders. The purpose of the meeting would be to increase the size of Wachovia's Board of Directors and nominate persons for election to the Board who, subject to their fiduciary duties as Wachovia directors and subject to Wachovia's merger agreement with First Union, would pursue a merger with SunTrust unless a strategic alternative is then available to Wachovia that provides superior value from a financial point of view taking into account current and long-term value, strategic and cultural fit, and the impact on customers, employees and communities.

L. Phillip Humann, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of SunTrust, said, "Wachovia shareholders will decide on August 3 which of the two competing merger proposals they believe is superior. The action we took today is designed to protect shareholders' right to choose. If Wachovia shareholders prefer our proposal, they can vote down the First Union merger and vote in favor of the proposed bylaw amendment. If our solicitation is successful and Wachovia does not negotiate with SunTrust, we would then seek as soon as possible to call a special meeting of Wachovia shareholders to elect directors who will be committed to pursuing a merger with SunTrust unless a more attractive alternative is then available."
